

Challenger To Mikulski Visits Garrett County

Among the candidates for state office who visited Garrett County recently was Dr. Mike Gloth of Carroll County, who is a Republican challenger for the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Barbara Mikulski.

A native of Baltimore, Gloth attended Loyola High School, and holds a bachelor of science degree from The College of William & Mary and an M.D. degree from Wayne State, Detroit. He completed his internal medicine residency at Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore and a three-year fellowship in geriatric medicine and gerontology at Johns Hopkins. He is presently chief of the Division of Geriatrics at Union Memorial, and continues to serve on the faculty at the Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland medical schools. He is a guest researcher at The National Institutes of Health and is medical director for Carroll Hospice.

Dr. Gloth has served on a host of state task forces and committees and is a member of the Sauerbrey Physician Health Care Advisory Board. He has given expert testimony to the legislature on various topics over the years.

In the area of health care, Gloth plans to "tighten bureaucracy and excessive regulation" and to actively pursue freedom of choice in healthcare services. In education, he believes in both teacher and student accountability, school choice and local control, and 90% funding for the classroom. He wants campaign finance reform that will "close the loopholes for special interests" and enforce ethical scrutiny and full disclosure. His position on tax reform is that the tax code must be both simplified and justified, and that taxpayers' rights must be enhanced and protected. In the fight against crime, Gloth believes in a three-fold attack: prevention, education, and treatment, as well as taking strong law enforcement measures.

"I ask people if they believe that taxation, health care, education, and juvenile crime problems have gotten better in the last 10 years since our junior senator (Mikulski) took office," Gloth said. "If the answer is no, then I would appreciate a vote for Mike Gloth."

Gloth was accompanied on his visit in Garrett County by Brenda Butcher, former Garrett County commissioner, who is acquainted with Gloth through her position as executive director of Hospice of Garrett County.

Medical Advice From Medical Students

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles submitted to The Republican recently by a pair of medical students performing their rural medicine rotation at the Garrett Medical Group. In this article, Christine Browning, a Southern High School and Hood College graduate, and daughter of Jamie and Charlene Browning of Oakland, addresses the issue of child sexual abuse.

Breaking the Silence by Christine Browning

Most people have a difficult time accepting that sexual abuse occurs at all, much less to the extent that it does. Anxiety surrounds the subject since it requires people to face difficult material. It includes not only issues of sexuality, but also of deviant behavior, exploitation of children, and the violation of social norms. Most difficult of all, it requires people to acknowledge that those members of their families, communities, schools, and churches sexually abuse children.

Since people have such a difficult time facing the issue of sexual abuse, they protect themselves with a variety of defense mechanisms. These include minimization, rationalization, distortion, and denial. They often deny that sexual abuse occurs at all; deny that it occurs as frequently as it does; deny that anyone they know is involved either as a victim or perpetrator; deny that they were sexually abused as a child. They even minimize the harm to children, convincing themselves that children are resilient or will not remember.

The lies surrounding sexual abuse confound the issue further. Children are told many lies: the perpetrator convinces them that the "love and affection" is normal; their families do not believe them, claiming that the perpetrator is simply "friendly"; and as adults they feel responsible for the abuse, subsequently dealing with a lifetime of shame and guilt. The perpetrators not only lie to their victims, but also to the people who confront them. A perpetrator will seldom, if ever, admit to abusing a child, even if caught.

The truth about sexual abuse is therefore caught in a vicious cycle as perpetrators lie about it, family members deny it, victims repress it, and society ignores it. Unfortunately, the biggest victims of this cycle are the children that have already survived the abuse itself. They are sentenced to a life of secrecy, having to suffer with a lifetime of guilt, shame, and low self-esteem alone.

People must acknowledge sexual abuse as an epidemic, occurring in one out of three girls and one out of seven boys and existing in all races, all sectors of society, and all kinds of families (families with natural parents, single parents, and foster parents). People must foster an air of openness in order to listen to and believe children and dispel the perpetrator's lies. They must encourage sexually abused children and perpetrators alike to receive therapy. Confronting the issue of sexual abuse will never be without defense mechanisms, especially when it occurs close to or within the home. However, with open minds and strength society can set free the millions of people living a life of secrecy, shame, and guilt and battle the epidemic of childhood sexual abuse.

Blood Pressure Medicines and Stroke

Use of blood pressure medicines in persons with high blood pressure helps prevent damage to vital organs of the body such as the eyes, brain, kidney, and heart. If not properly treated, elevated blood pressure can lead to damage to these organs. Examples of damage include heart attack and stroke. For this reason, physicians and pharmacists encourage persons on blood pressure medicines to take them exactly as they have been prescribed. One problem associated with blood pressure medicine use is not taking medicines consistently because individuals often do not feel bad at the time a medicine dose is required.

Another problem is that some people simply stop taking their blood pressure medicines. According to a study recently conducted by Australian researchers, stopping blood pressure drugs may increase the risk of having a stroke (usually characterized by bleeding in the brain and/or paralysis). According to a three-year study of persons who had bleeding strokes, persons with high blood pressure had more than twice the likelihood of having a stroke than those with normal blood pressure. Persons with high blood pressure who are at highest risk for stroke include younger adults, smokers, and those who stop taking their medicines.

SYETP Workforce Adventures Pilot Program Unveiled

The Summer Youth Employment and Training Program (SYETP) offered a program called "Workforce Adventures" for the first time this year, making the pilot program available to the youth work crews stationed at Herrington Manor and New Germany state parks.

Dawn Beitzel, coordinator of special events and seminars from the Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College, and Chris Wiltson, lead facilitator, led the Workforce Adventures participants in a variety of experiential learning and team building activities designed to foster personal and professional growth.

"These initiatives are planned to increase the effectiveness of team members in the workplace," Beitzel said. "The trust, communication, and risk-taking skills learned in the exercises translate into a more cohesive and productive work team."

The 21 Workforce Adventures participants met for three consecutive Mondays. The first day's activity was a low ropes course at New Germany, which encouraged the young people to engage in a series of activities that focused on problem solving, decision making, communication, cooperation, team work and leadership.

The second session was the high ropes course at the Meadow Mountain Youth Center, where both individual and group activities were available. Individuals willing to try the risk-taking exercise went through a series of high-wire walking stations, sometimes 50 feet off the forest floor, which ended when they jumped off a tree stand and rode a "zip-line" down to the ground.

The last session was called "Orienteering," which is finding one's way with map and compass within unfamiliar territory to a pre-selected destination. A short orientation to the sport, some instruction on map and compass reading, and specific directions were given.

"There was a sense of competition here," said Beitzel. "The participants were divided into small teams. At each control point marked on the map hung a control marker. Once the orienteers found it, they punched a score card to prove they were there. Thus, the object of the sport was to find and record as many of these control points as possible in the least amount of time. The orienteering competitors, by reading the map and interpreting the symbols, must quickly decide whether to travel a shorter route, through, say, thick vegetation or a longer route through rough open land with scattered trees."

"Workforce Adventures provided young persons with an opportunity to participate in activities that will teach them work skills necessary for a successful future," Beitzel concluded.

GCC Reps Will Be Available At Public Libraries

Garrett Community College will have representatives providing information about the college to all interested members of the public in the branches of the Ruth Enlow Library, Next week a representative will be available on Tuesday, Aug. 25, at the Oakland Library, and Thursday, Aug. 27, at the Accident branch of the library, from noon to 1 p.m. each day.

"Anyone who desires information about GCC's programs, courses, and financial assistance is encouraged to meet with the representative at one of these times," said GCC spokesperson Joan B. Crawford.

The GCC representatives' schedule for the following week will be announced in next week's newspapers and on WKJ radio, Crawford added.

Police Suggest Back-To-School Safety Tips

In anticipation of the opening of school, Maryland State Police have issued safety tips and reminders to help increase the safety of children as they travel back and forth to school.

Each year in Maryland over 100 pedestrians and bicyclists are killed and thousands more are injured on local roads. Persons walking or riding bikes along the road can easily become vulnerable targets, the police report stated.

Pedestrian injury is the second leading cause of unintentional injury-related death among school children ages 5 to 14. "The first few years of school are a high-risk period for children who walk to school. Parents often overestimate their children's abilities to cross the street safely. We ask parents to familiarize their children with the safest route to school," said Col. David B. Mitchell, superintendent, Maryland State Police.

Children may be able to cross the street safely while they are with a parent, but may do something unexpected while playing near a street or walking with friends. "Arrange to walk with them or to have a much older child (at least fifth or sixth grade) accompany them to and from school. Be especially cautious about multi-lane streets," Mitchell advised.

While the actual school bus trip is among the safest forms of transportation, there are substantial pedestrian risks associated with the total trip, as the child walks to and from the bus stop, waits for the bus in a traffic environment, gets on and off the bus at home and at school, and sometimes crosses the street to and from the bus, the report stated.

The basics of safe street crossing are the following:

- Stop at the edge of the street.
- Look left-right-left for traffic.
- Cross only when no cars or trucks are coming.
- Keep looking while walking across.

Although young children may be able to recite the rules of safe crossing, this does not mean that they can actually do it right every time. It takes many years for children to develop the understanding and skills they need. "Most kindergarten through third-grade children have no real sense of danger, cannot judge speed and distance to decide how fast a car is approaching, and often assume that the vehicle driver can see them if they can see the driver," Mitchell concluded.

Tips For Being A "Sole Survivor"

The following are tips for pedestrians from the state police.

- Be an alert and cautious walker. Don't jaywalk; observe crosswalk markings and traffic control devices. Though Maryland law requires vehicles to stop for pedestrians in crosswalks, one should not take chances but be certain that vehicles are stopped before proceeding through the crosswalk.

- When walking on the road, one should always: walk facing traffic, as far from the roadway as possible; watch approaching traffic to make sure the oncoming driver sees and is not driving toward oneself; and wear bright colored clothing, especially to walk at night. Reflective type clothing is the best.

The following tips were issued for bicyclists.

- Bicycles are vehicles and operators must obey state and local laws that apply to bicyclists, including the rules of the road.

- All bikes must be equipped with a bell or other device that can give a warning signal which can be heard 100 feet away. After dark or in bad weather, bikes must be equipped with a white light on the front and red light or reflector on the rear.

- Bikes may not be ridden on controlled access highways or roads with a speed limit of more than 50 mph.

- Because bicyclists, like pedestrians, can be hard to see, it is advisable to wear light-colored clothing and to be alert for motor vehicles.

THE COMMITTEE TO ELECT

ROBERT E. WATSON

JUDGE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY
P.O. BOX 390 OAKLAND, MD 21550

Committee Treasurer Dave Burdock (l) and Chairman Terry Helbig (r) display a Watson campaign sign. The signs are available at Bob's office at 300 E. Alder Street, Oakland, or at his mobile campaign headquarters at the Fair directly across from the Lions Club pavilion.

COMMITTEE FORMED TO SUPPORT BOB WATSON

A group of citizens from all areas of Garrett County has formed an independently financed bi-partisan Campaign Committee to support the candidacy of Robert E. Watson for Judge of the Circuit Court.

The Committee to Elect Robert E. Watson (CAREW) is Chaired by Terry Helbig, President of Gonder Insurance Agency. A former member of the Oakland Town Council, Helbig is secretary of the Penn Mar Baseball League and manages the Oakland team and is involved in many community activities, as is the Committee's Treasurer David A. Burdock, a member of the Kitzmiller Lions Club, a former member of the Hospital Board and Owner of Burdock's Funeral Home of Kitzmiller.

The committee was registered in Annapolis on July 8, 1998. Its earliest members include Jim Evans of Oakland; Brian and Rebecca Brennen of Grantsville; Harold Upole of Mtn. Lake Park; Kurt and Marilyn Giotfelty of the Kempton area; Bruce Opel of Long Stretch; Asa McCain of Oakland; John Hinebaugh of Sang Run; Charles Tressler of Loch Lynn; Marshall and Cindy Stacy of Swanton; Paula Redinger of Oakland; Bill and Kathy Paugh of Kitzmiller; Lewi Marks of Mtn. Lake Park; Ed and Elaine Bateman of the Fingerboard Road area; Kenny Resh of Grantsville; Gary and Helen Mayfield of Swanton; Al Dillsworth of Shady Dell; Arlene Murray of Swanton; Bonnie Evans of Oakland; Alvin and Marge Lee of Kurt's Korner; Ron Doerr of Accident; Velma Lille of Gorman; Mac MacNichol of Red House; James and Wilma Wilburn of Grantsville; Howard Bailie of Deep Creek Lake; Mike and Helen Stephens of Oakland; Frank Farano of Deep Creek Lake, and Elaine Paugh of Oakland. The membership is now more than 100 and growing.

"The response to this effort has been amazing," said Terry Helbig Monday. "I have never actively endorsed a candidate before and I would not do this for anybody but Bob Watson. But I am familiar with his honesty, legal skills and knowledge and know how he has helped the Town of Oakland through many crises, and I have a lot of respect for him. I think he would make a very good Circuit Court Judge."

Helbig called for anyone who supports Bob Watson to join the committee, inviting them to call him, Dave Burdock or Rita Watson. "Of course, Bob is always available to answer any questions about himself for explain his candidacy. You can call him anytime at 301-334-2344 or 301-387-4786." Helbig also noted that Watson has his own campaign separate from the activities of the committee and that the committee is entirely financed without any contribution from Watson.

"I have never done anything like this before either," said Dave Burdock. "But, I have known Bob for years and was impressed with what he has done for the county. I have known his wife Rita, who is from Shallmar, almost her whole life and I can say that they are happily married and have a wholesome family life. I am very confident. Almost everyone I have spoken to has positive things to say about Bob."

JOIN THE TEAM

Just fill out the coupon below and mail it to us at P.O. Box 390, Oakland, Maryland 21550. We are planning an active campaign and if you would like to help financially we would very much appreciate that as well. Yard signs are available at Bob's office. And thanks.

Dear Terry and Dave,
I would like to add my name to the committee and endorse Bob Watson.

CELEBRATING OUR BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

FSA Launches Hay Network To Aid Distressed Farmers

Michael R. Kozier, co-executive director of the Garrett Farm Service Agency, has announced a new effort to match farmers suffering from hay shortages with producers having hay surpluses.

"Some areas have surpluses, and some have severe shortages," said Kozier. "This is a new and exciting way to get producers in both situations in touch with each other."

Hay Net is a national clearinghouse for producers with shortages or surpluses of hay. Farmers are encouraged to sign up and register their hay situation at the Garrett FSA office. FSA will use its nationwide computer network to share the information. Producers in need of hay will be provided with lists of the closest producers with hay to spare, and vice versa, allowing them to contact each other and make arrangements.

"I'm very pleased to be a part of this effort," said Kozier. "It's a great tool for getting badly needed hay to people who need it as quickly and efficiently as possible. I encourage everybody to participate who can, and to come in as soon as possible. The more people who sign up, the better the system will work."

Hay Net will remain in operation for six months. Further information on Hay

Net is available at the Garrett County FSA office, 1916 Maryland Highway, Oakland, MD 21550, or call 301-334-6954.

Farm Bureau Dairy Booth At Fair Is Very Successful

On behalf of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, Clark and Faeale Mae Kolb expressed their appreciation to all those who helped in the Farm Bureau's dairy booth last week at the Garrett County Fair.

They also praised those who patronized the booth and purchased the 510 gallons of ice cream that was sold. The ice cream and milk for the booth was provided by Fika's Dairy. The Kolbs said it was a very successful week for Farm Bureau, and they hope everyone remembers the Farm Bureau booth at next year's Garrett County Fair.

Corn & Soybean Acreage Down

Maryland corn growers planted 470,000 acres for all purposes this year as compared to 500,000 acres planted in 1997. This is a 6% decrease in corn acreage from last year. Corn for grain is expected to be harvested from 420,000 acres, up 5,000 acres from the 415,000 acres reported in 1997. On the other hand, soybean acreage planted and to be planted is estimated at 470,000 acres, which is 13% less than the 540,000 acres planted in 1997. Soybeans are expected to be harvested from 460,000 acres, down from the 525,000 acres harvested in 1997.

Winter wheat is expected to be harvested from 215,000 acres, the same as last year. Barley was planted on 52,000 acres for 1998, 3,000 acres below last year. Barley harvested for grain is estimated at 48,000, down 4% from last year's harvested acres. Rye acreage planted for the 1998 crop was 25,000 acres, unchanged from last year. Rye for grain is expected to be harvested from 4,000 acres in 1998. Oat acreage planted in 1998 was 9,000, down 40% from last year. Oat acreage for grain to be harvested is 7,000, down 36% from last year.

All hay acreage harvested is estimated at 204,000 acres, up 14,000 acres from that reported in 1997. Expected harvested acreage of alfalfa hay is 54,000 acres, and hay other than alfalfa is expected to be harvested from 150,000. Summer potato growers planted 4,600 acres in 1998, 35% above last year. Summer potatoes are expected to be harvested from 4,600 acres.

Across the United States, corn planted for all purposes is estimated at 80.8 million acres, up 1% from last year. This is the largest planted acreage since 1985. Growers expect to harvest 74.3 million acres for grain, up 1% from 1997. If realized, this will be the largest harvested acreage since 1985. Ideal weather in the western Corn Belt helped planting start one week ahead of the normal pace.

Soybean 1998 planted area is estimated at 72.7 million acres, 3% above last year's crop. Area for harvest is estimated at 71.7 million acres, up 3% from 1997. If realized, this will be the largest planted and harvested area on record. The last record was set in 1979.

Warm, Dry Weather Puts Stress On Corn & Soybeans

Another week of warm, dry weather took place as corn and soybeans continued to be stressed from the lack of precipitation. According to the Maryland Ag Statistics Service, dry, hot conditions were reported for the entire state. Corn has almost completed its silking stage for the state, as 90% has been reported. Half the soybeans have bloomed, as it improved 13 points from the previous week. Growth has been reduced in double-crop soybeans due to hot and dry conditions.

Vegetable harvesting continued this previous week as cantaloupes and watermelons both increased to 70% harvested. Cukes, limas, and tomatoes all made significant gains during the week as well.

Topsoil moisture was 27% very short, 55% short, and 18% adequate. Subsoil moisture was 17% very short, 50% short, and 33% adequate. The dry weather afforded 6.9 days for field work last week.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended August 9, listing the item and the percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average follows:

Prices Received Are Down For Field Crops

Prices received by Maryland and Delaware farmers for field crops were all down except for hay, which went up $13 per ton.

Cattle and calves prices showed a decrease this month, but hogs increased slightly. The Champion pen of two meat birds, owned and sold by Zachary Rhodes, son of Ron and Danita Rhodes, was purchased for $90 by Hutzel Trucking and donated back to Rhodes. The Reserve Champion pen of two meat birds, owned and sold by Elliott Glatfely, son of Rodney and Marc Glatfely, was purchased by Hershberger Insurance Agency for $360.

"The Farmer's Wife" Documentary To Air On PBS In Sept.

A six-hour documentary, The Farmer's Wife, will air on three straight nights, Sept. 21-23 on PBS. Filmed over three years, it offers viewers an intimate look at the daily travails—the battles with nature and with debt, the stress it all puts on a farmer's marriage—of the Buschkoster family of Lawrence, Neb. (pop. 350); Juanita Buschkoster, 31, the "farmer's wife," her husband Darrel, 37, and daughters Audrey, 11, Abby, 10, and Whitney, 7.

Why did they open their doors? "We were having really bad financial problems," Juanita said. "Our bank threatened foreclosure, we'd gone through four years of drought, low hog prices. I'd seen so many farmers having similar problems. It's in a farmer's nature to be private, but if people would find out that they are not alone, there is hope. Family farm life is worth fighting for, bad times and all."

Water Quality Improvement Act of 1998
Have you heard of the Water Quality Improvement Act?

Oh! Dear God

We thank Thee for Patriotic nobie, brave and true,
Who will cry out the darkest night through.
We thank Thee for Revere's midnight call,
Short, yet so challenging to all.
How this nation must have rejoiced
To make that noble choice.
Mr. Revere, if you were to ride tonight,
Your message again will not be bright.

Oh, Dear God, our land has bowed to sin,
And turned their back on God within.
How can this be with all the wealth of plenty,
What will be the answers given by many?
Mr. Revere, if you were to ride again,
What would be the response from within?
Would the churches display apostasy,
And the continual excuses of apathy?
Would they say we are so secure,
It just will never happen here?
Or would they say by God's help we shall win,
One more time before Jesus comes again?

Oh, Dear God, we thank you for folks sincere.
But most of all for your son so dear.
Mr. Revere, it seems I can hear you in the street,
That alarm so clear and noble that prevented a retreat.
Mr. Revere's horse made that noble run with pride.
Oh, Dear God, if only others were willing to ride.

Oh, Dear God, if there were only more Paul Reveres,
To stand in the gap and speak so loud and clear.
This great nation under God would flourish,
If only its people, their creator would cherish.

THE RESERVE CHAMPION 4-H/FFA PEN OF 2 MEAT BIRDS at the 1998 Garrett County Fair was purchased by Harahberger Insurance Agency, Grantville, for $360. of 1998? If you're involved in the farming industry, you soon will.

A common name for this recently passed law is Mandatory Nutrient Management. Nutrient Management is a scientifically proven method of utilizing manure as fertilizer and applying lime and fertilizer according to soil and manure tests and using realistic yield goals. Every farm should be soil testing every three years. Every farm with livestock should be utilizing manure as fertilizer. Many Garrett County cooperators are already in the voluntary Nutrient Management Program, almost 9,000 acres. What will this law mean to you? Nothing, if you continue to keep your plan up to date. What does the law mean to you if you don't have a plan? You will need to get one before the year 2001. What will this mean to you in terms of profitability? The average Maryland farmer participating in the program has saved an average of $20 per acre. You will save money too!

The problem may arise on a few farms with phosphorus. If your fields are in the excessive range of phosphorus, there may be a problem with more manure applications. The regulations are being written and should be complete by the end of the year that will determine how the law will address this problem.

Some of the timelines of the Water Quality Improvement Act of 1998 are the following:

-If you have 8 animal units or gross $2,500, you must have a Nutrient Management Plan.

-If you use commercial fertilizer (no manure), you must have a nitrogen and phosphorus based plan by Dec. 31, 2001, and implemented by Dec. 31, 2002.

-If you use sludge or animal manure, you must have a nitrogen based plan implemented by Dec. 31, 2002. Also, you have until July 1, 2004, to have a nitrogen and phosphorus based plan which must be implemented by July 1, 2005. If you do have a phosphorus problem, there are several years to start planning on how to deal with it.

Nutrient management is a sound management practice that can improve your profitability. The law takes it several steps further, but you can use it to make sound agronomic decisions.

How do you get a Nutrient Management Plan? Contact Bill Knepp at our office (301-334-6965).

Fall Webworms

The trees seem overloaded with tents of the Fall Webworms. What can you do about them? The caterpillars are in the tents preparing for winter, and spraying at this time is not an option. The trees have stored their sugars to get them through the winter so the partial defoliation does not jeopardize the life of the tree.

NOTICE

OAKLAND SUBSCRIBERS

At CableVision, we're in constant search of the programming lineup that best fits the viewing interests of our customers and community. On a regular basis, we compare our existing programming offerings with customer feedback we receive. In some cases, we discover that networks we don't currently offer appear to be a better match for a majority of our customers and add greater diversity to our programming lineup.

We are pleased to announce the addition of the Great American Country channel and Toon Disney to our current lineup. In addition, MTV will be relocated to channel 99. We believe this programming will enhance the viewing pleasure of our customers, and offer greater variety. The Great American Country channel will replace CMT and Toon Disney will replace the Court TV channel on your current programming lineup.

These changes will be effective September 15, 1998. During the next 30 days we may need to test the new programming; we will make every effort to ensure that these tests do not interfere with normal programming. In the event you experience signal interruption please feel free to contact our customer service department at 800-874-2930.

PUBLIC SALE OF
VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

Pursuant to a Court Order entered on July 20, 1998, in the case of Parkey v. Morland, CIV Action No. 98-C-3, the undersigned was appointed as Special Commissioner to sell at public sale a tract of real estate and improvements located just south of Mt. Storm, Union District, West Virginia, containing 106 acres, more or less.

The property fronts on West Virginia State Route 42 less than 1/4 mile south of Mt. Storm, West Virginia. It consists of open fields and approximately 66 acres of timber and woodland. Whitetail deer, turkey and other small game are abundant. The property is 4 miles from Vepoo Lake and 30 miles from Canaan Valley, West Virginia.

There is a three-bedroom home on the real estate with a half basement and semi-finished attic. The residence has an approximate living area of 1,124 square feet and is heated with electric. Also, there is an old chicken house that is no longer used but is believed to contain about 5,000 board feet of wormy chestnut lumber.

The sale will take place on Saturday, August 22, 1998 at 12:00 noon at the house on the property near Mt. Storm, West Virginia.

TERMS

The property will be sold "as is" and in gross, not by the acre, to the highest bidder subject to confirmation by the Grant County Circuit Court. The purchaser will deposit 10% of the sales price with the Special Commissioners on the date of sale and the balance within 30 days or whenever the sale is confirmed by the Court, whichever is later. The Seller will pay the costs of dead stamps and the costs to prepare the deed. The 1998 real estate taxes will be pro-rated on a fiscal year basis to the date of closing.
By law, the Special Commissioners will deliver a special warranty deed to the purchaser. All announcements on the day of sale will take precedence over written material.

Persons interested in viewing the property can contact the undersigned or Ricky Hyre at (304) 693-7800.

Brenda Butscher Candidate For GOP Committee

Brenda Butscher, 551 Liberty Street, Oakland, has announced that she has filed as a candidate for the Garrett County Republican Central Committee. In filing, Ms. Butscher made the following statement:

"The Republican Central Committee is an important party office. Those who are elected to serve should be advocates of the Republican Party's philosophy and standards. They should not weaken to those who don't have Republican values and the interest of the party as their top priority when involved in political decisions. They should be experienced in Republican policies, have a good knowledge of state election laws, and a great desire to work with other Republicans toward building and uniting the party. I will be able to give leadership and experience to the committee."

Ms. Butscher is presently the executive director of Hospice of Garrett County Inc. She is a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, the Garrett County Historical Society, the Oakland Civic Club, Northern Garrett Republican Women, Grantsville Area Business & Professional Women, the Garrett County Farm Bureau, and associate member of the Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge #99, and the National Hospice Organization.

Some of her political background includes being a former Garrett County commissioner, elected in 1990; former member and chairman of the Republican Central Committee, elected in 1974 and 1986; elected delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1976, 1988, and 1992; and appointed delegate to the Republican National Convention, 1972 and 1984. She organized Garrett County's first Lincoln Day Dinner, served on the Maryland Republican Party Executive Board, and coordinated political campaigns for presidential and congressional candidates.

She has served on many boards in Garrett County, such as Garrett County Memorial Hospital Board, Community Action Board, and as ex officio member of the Board of Education, Western Maryland Health Systems Agency, Emergency Management Planning Committee, Youth Advisory Board, and Social Service Board.

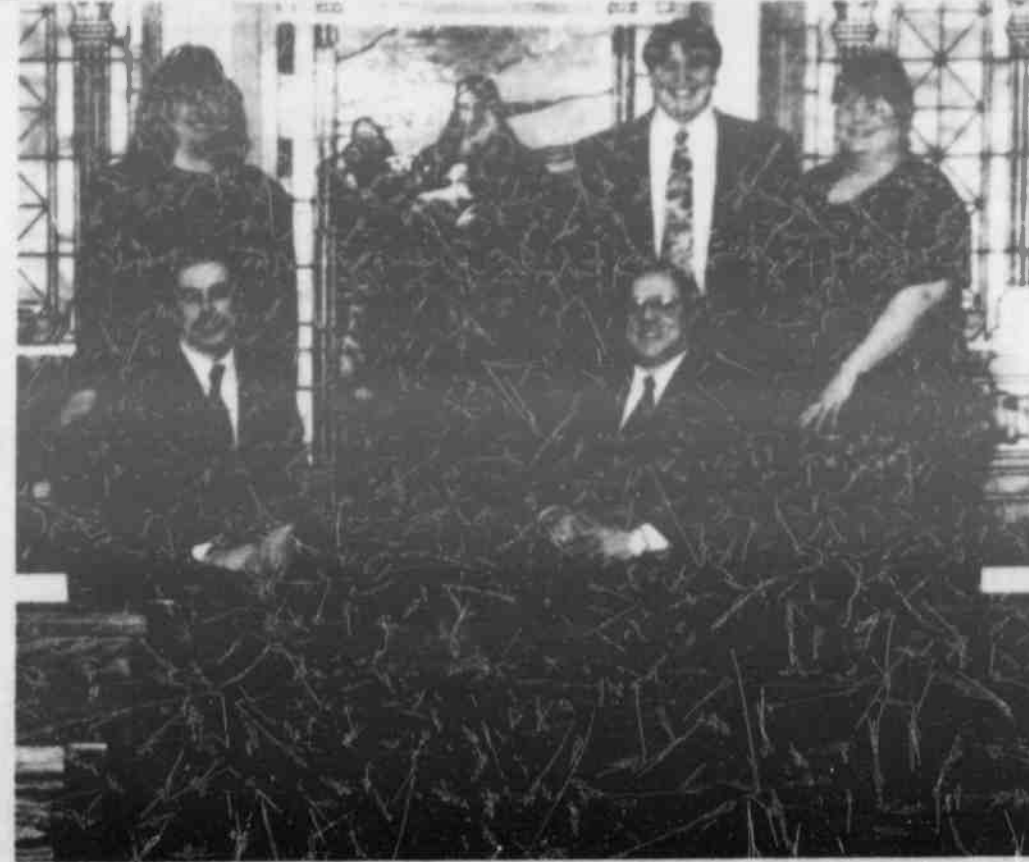

Ms. Butscher was named "Woman of the Year" in 1994 by the Business & Professional Women. She was inducted into Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame (1997) and more recently selected for inclusion in the book Woman of Achievement in Maryland History in the chapter on "Law and Public Service," to be published this fall.

She is married to Harry Dunkin, and she is the mother of two children, James Butscher and Lisa Butscher Friend.

E. Louise Brooks, Mtn. Lake Park, is serving as her campaign treasurer.

Lake Park Pavilion at the McHenry Fairgrounds. All interested members of the public are invited to bring a covered dish and speak with the current Republican elected representatives and Republican candidates for state and county offices, who have been invited to the event.

SOUTHERN GOSPEL GROUP TO PERFORM - The Beesons, a touring southern gospel music group hailing from New Creek, W.Va., will be performing at the Bethesda Church of the Brethren on Sunday, Aug. 30, at 1:30 p.m. The Beesons, composed of two couples — Kevin and Patula Stagg, and Denny and Carla Brown — and occasional drummer Ryan Brown, the Browns' 16-year-old son, have been performing "old-fashioned quartet style music as well as trios, duets, and family harmony." For the last 15 years the group has traveled throughout West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Virginia to sing at churches, schools, and camp meetings. The Bethesda Church of the Brethren is located six miles south of Grantsville on Bittinger Road. For further information interested persons may call 301-334-1046.

The covered dish dinner will provide an opportunity for Garrett County voters to come and share views, goals, and concerns with the elected representatives and candidates. Each candidate will be invited to make a two minute presentation. The guest speaker will be Charles I. "Chuck" Ecker, Republican candidate for governor.

Persons seeking further information on the social event or the SGC Republican Women's Club may call Nita Roberts at 301-387-4025, Bea Cosco at 301-334-2147, or any other member of the club.

Deep Creek POA Elects Board Members, Officers

At its membership meeting on August 22, the Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake Incorporated re-elected four directors and elected three new directors for the organization.

(A story detailing the POA's Saturday meeting with state representatives concerning issues surrounding the sale of Deep Creek Lake will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.)

The new directors are Carole C. Perez, a resident of Beckman's Peninsula and Potomac. Perez is an attorney with offices in Rockville and is a past president of the Bar Association of Montgomery County. Perez replaces Alan Boyd, who reportedly resigned for health reasons.

Kathryn Gemberling, a resident of the Gleanings and Silver Spring, was elected to a three-year term succeeding Gerald A. Polansky, who died on July 1. Gemberling is currently the deputy superintendent of schools for Montgomery County.

W. Thomas Myers Jr. was the third new director elected. Myers and his wife Karen reside on State Park Road. A native of Clarksburg, W.Va., Myers is a graduate of Yale University, with masters' and doctorate degrees in wood chemistry and engineering from Lawrence University in Wisconsin. Myers joined this year from the Fort James Corporation after serving in a variety of executive leadership positions. Myers was elected to replace Troy Gnegy, who resigned.

Re-elected to three-year terms were Barbara Elster, Steven Jellinek, Helga Williamson, and Ted Russell. Jellinek was then re-elected as treasurer, and Anne Horowitz was re-elected as secretary. Russell will serve as vice president and Roger W. Titus is the president, succeeding the late Gerald A. Polansky.

"I am extremely pleased that we have added three additional directors of such high caliber and qualifications," Titus said. "I look forward to working with them in the years ahead, and believe that they bring added strength to our board at a critical time for Deep Creek Lake."

COULDN'T GET A RIDE TO DEEP CREEK, HUH? The Firecracker Regatta it isn't, but this young man did manage to find a way to sail his ships, even if they didn't have very far to go. Fun comes in all sizes, though, and he seems to be quite satisfied with this arrangement. The lazy, hazy days of summer are winding down, and youngsters should enjoy this last week of freedom, as school will begin on Monday and the days will curiously begin to fly by at great speed. Soon the leaves will blaze and the wind will bite, and all sailing ships will be stored for the winter. Until then, breathe in the warmth and take a swim — or go sailing in a wash tub of dreams. Nat'l. Main St. Program Reps Due In Oakland Oakland is scheduled to be reviewed and analyzed by a team of national representatives of the Main Street program. This group, the Main Street Resource Team, will develop a list of recommendations for downtown revitalization.

Oakland's Main Street project manager, Glenn Tolbert, described the resource team visit as "the single most significant component of the Main Street agenda."

The group that will visit Sept. 1-3 will include Mack Nichols of the National Main Street Center, Elizabeth Hughes of Maryland Historical Trust, promotions consultant Linda Harper, and Cindy Stone, coordinator of Maryland's Main Street effort.

"If you see a group of 10 to 20 people wandering through the streets and stopping in front of various businesses next week, discussing everything from traffic to tourists, there's a good chance you've just spotted the Main Street Resource Team," Tolbert said.

Garrett Bureau Of Investigations Approved; Paper-Signing Set Today

The Garrett Bureau of Investigations, or GBI, will officially be signed into existence today, according to Sheriff Richard Sanders, who informed the Garrett County commissioners of the development at Tuesday's county staff meeting. State officials will be in the county today to take part in the official launch of the program, which will involve the investigative resources of the Maryland State Police, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the county's state's attorney's office.

The officers involved in the program will be housed at the sheriff's office, Sanders said. He told the commissioners that the GBI will consist of three state police officers, two sheriff's deputies, and one investigator from the state's attorney's office.

"The formation of this organization will help us to eliminate dual investigations and will, we expect, increase our criminal closure rate," Sanders said. He explained that problems have arisen in the past when both the state police and the sheriff's office have investigated the same series of crimes. "We have always needed to work together on some of these cases and this will allow us to do so," he said.

The GBI has been awarded a start-up grant of $65,000 that will be used to purchase office equipment and supplies, as well as to hire one individual to serve as secretary. Sanders noted that the county is, at the time award, but that it expects other grants and income to cover the costs of the organization once it is established.

State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Weich voiced her support of the program, reiterating the importance of the law enforcement investigators working together.

"Now we will have evidence housed in one location, which will be very helpful, and we will have the benefit of the officers working in concert to solve the cases forwarded to the GBI office," she told the commissioners.

GCSO Arrests Couple In I-68 Traffic Incident

A man and a woman were arrested Thursday morning on I-68 according to incident reports filed with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

The initial arrest was made when an officer stopped Lee Howell, 32, Maysel, W.Va., for operating a vehicle with expired registration. Howell was also charged with driving an uninsured vehicle, an unregistered vehicle, driving without consuming an alcohol, and operating a vehicle with expired, out-of-state registration, displaying no license plates for an auto, and failure to be restrained by a seat belt.

Further checks revealed that Howell was a fictitious name that he is wanted in by Richmond Parole and Probation, by Virginia Police, and by the Crickburg Police Department.

When Howell was arrested his companion, 1 Jane Prichard, 34, Maysel, W.Va., became disorderly, the officer reported. She was charged with resisting arrest after she attempted to be handcuffed. Both were taken to Garrett County Jail to await a hearing.

Oakland Man In Intensive Care After Accident

An Oakland man remained hospitalized yesterday in critical condition in the Intensive Care Unit at Cumberland Memorial Hospital following a two-vehicle accident Monday afternoon on Steyer-Gorman Road.

Scott Anthony Bowman, 18, reportedly lost control of his Ford Mustang while traveling eastbound on Steyer-Gorman Road and crossed over the center line into the path of an oncoming dump truck operated by Matthew Lynn Berg, 27, Keyser, W.Va. Bowman's vehicle was totaled and he was flown to the hospital by Maryland State Police medevac helicopter Trooper 5. Berg was not injured.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is continuing the investigation.

In another motor vehicle accident investigated by the Sheriff's Office, a Deer Park man remained hospitalized in stable condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) as of yesterday afternoon after he fell from a motorcycle on Boiling Springs Road at A Street in Deer Park on Monday afternoon.

Michael Eugene Armstrong, 22, was traveling westbound on Boiling Springs Road when he lost control of a Honda motorcycle, left the roadway, and was ejected from the vehicle as it overturned several times. As the motorcycle continued on without Armstrong, it struck the right side of a truck driven by James Claude Beckman, 46, Kitzmiller.

Armstrong, who was not wearing a safety helmet at the time of the accident, was transported by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad to the hospital, where he was admitted with injuries to his head, chest, and with the league are the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and the Civic Club of Oakland, with additional support from the Garrett County chapters of Business and Professional Women, American Association of University Women, Commission for Women, and Delta Kappa Gamma, plus the newly formed Women's Coalition of Garrett County.

This first forum will feature the candidates for circuit court judge, sheriff, state senator, and state delegate. Candidates will be asked predetermined questions, but citizens will have a chance to speak with them during a half-time break and at the conclusion of the forum, around 5 p.m.

All candidates, including those not appearing or either forum, may tribute campaign literature in the lobby outside the auditorium.

A second forum to be held on Sunday, Sept. 28, also at GCMH, will be held at 11 a.m.

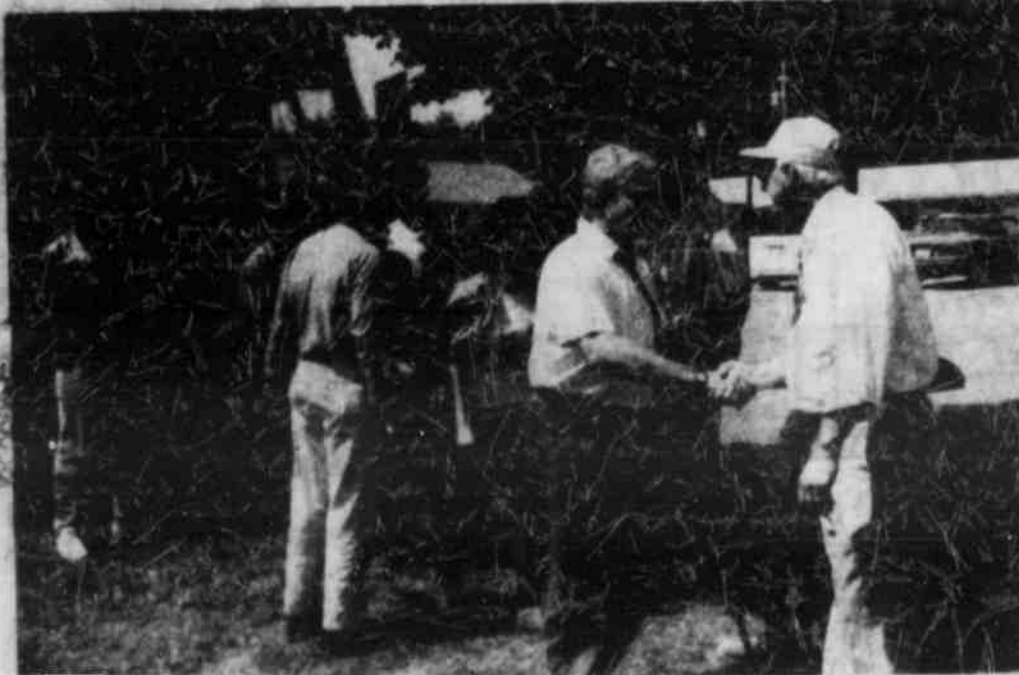

THE 'ANVIL' IS ONE OF THE TAMBURITZANS' more popular dances, a moment of which is pictured here, and will be presented as part of a lively show on Saturday, Aug. 29, in the gymnasium of Garrett Community College. The show is part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) line up and will begin at 8 p.m. The 36-dancer troupe, known for presenting colorful, spirited shows, is from Duquesne University. The Mettli Coal Company is sponsoring this performance. The folk artists are full-time students at Duquesne who are dedicated to preserving the East European culture. Formed in 1937, the group has toured throughout Europe, Canada, the former Soviet Union, and the United States as goodwill ambassadors. During each show, the performers show off hundreds of authentic costumes as they dance and sing in the style and tradition of the peasant villages and towns of the Balkan countries. Tickets for the performance are $8 for adults and $4 for youth 18 and younger. They can be obtained by calling the GLAF box office at 301-367-3082 or may be purchased at the door. All GLAF events are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

SOLEM SPENCERS COME TO SEE MINING CLEAN-UP — A bus load of about 24 people from South Africa unloaded in Garrett County last week, the visitors intent on witnessing the local mine reclamation efforts. This follows a tour of Chinese officials last month, and a group from Indonesia in June. (A feature story appeared in the August 13 issue of The Republican about the Chinese guests.) The groups are traveling to the mountaintops of Garrett County and neighboring West Virginia to learn about the latest land conservation and reclamation methods now being used in these areas. The local sites are good examples of "cutting edge" technology, and visitors are taking these methods home with them to begin clean-up efforts in their own lands. Jerry Duckett, featured at right as he greets the South African guests, is the technical services manager for Buffalo Coal. He has led the tours, taking the guests to the Thomas (W.Va.) wetland, the Wilson microbe "bug bed" where acid mine drainage is treated through a simple pyrolysis process (patented by two Frostburg biologists), and then on to the Mettli coal mine. Duckett said that while China is far behind the U.S. in clean-up efforts, South Africa is more up to speed, "probably about 10 years behind us now," Duckett said.

Beitzel Company Honored At Mega Success Event

A local contracting company was honored with an award at last weekend's Mega-Success Conference, held at the Rocky Gap regional conference center in Allegany County. Olin Beitzel of the Beitzel Corporation of Grantsville was presented with the Maryland Environmental Service 1998 Contractor of the Year Award for work contracted in 1996 and completed in 1997. The project was the completion of a sewage treatment plant at New Germany State Park.

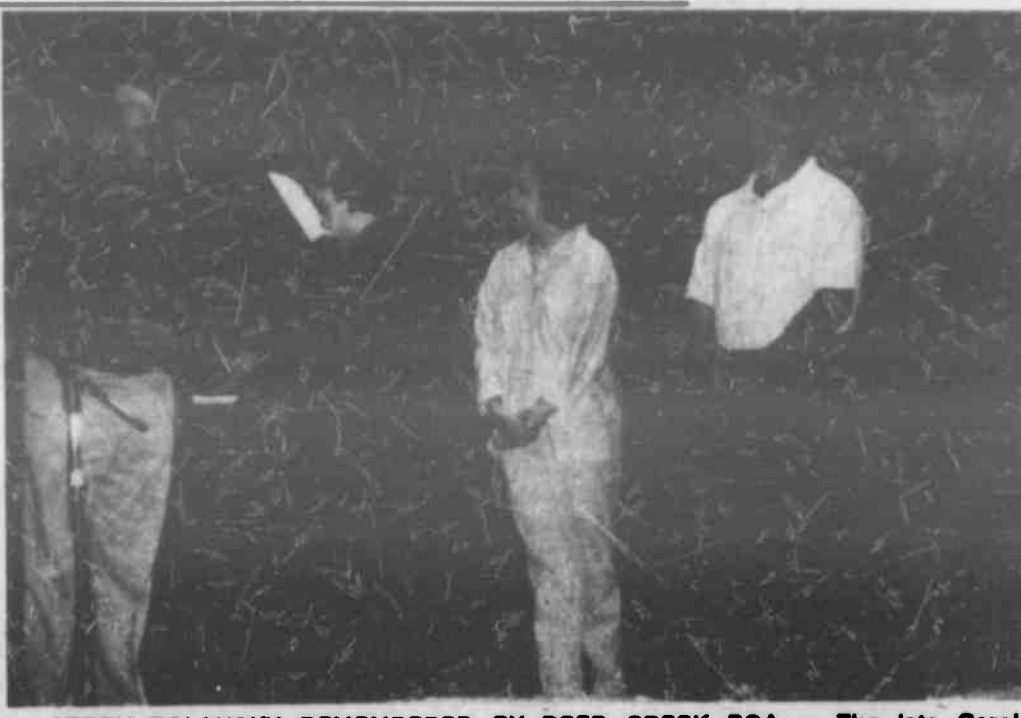

The award was given in recognition of the company's ability to surpass the minimum criteria required of a contractor on a federally contracted job in the following categories: timely work, quality workmanship, payment at a certain wage and benefit level, and the purchasing of supplies from minority owned businesses at a level higher than the required 10% minimum.

The award presentation was held at the closing ceremonies of the two-day conference, which was hosted by U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes (D-MD) and coordinated by the Maryland Department of Transportation. The conference was attended by 730 participants, and featured over 100 federal and state agency exhibitors who explained business procurement and contracting methods.

According to David Moe, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, the conference is to be an annual event. It is slated to be in Hagerstown in 1999 and Garrett County in 2000.

Local vendors participating and exhibiting at the conference included Yoders Incorporated, Min. Pride Cooperative Inc., First United Bank & Trust, and The Data Entry Company. Representatives of these businesses who attended were pleased with the event.

Bernie Dixon of Country Pride Meats said the conference helped him in GERRY POLANSKY REMEMBERED BY DEEP CREEK POA — The late Gerald Polansky, former president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, was remembered by that organization during a meeting held Saturday at Garrett Community College. Rogar Titus, pictured at left, has succeeded Polansky as president of the organization. Titus opened the meeting with words about his friend Polansky, who was a key player in protecting local residents' interests in the current sale of Deep Creek Lake. Titus then presented the Polansky family with a memorial plaque and a bouquet of flowers. He also announced an unprecedented act by the POA: a donation of funds to a non-profit organization. Titus said the POA had never made a donation before, but because of Polansky's involvement with the arts in Garrett County, the property owners agreed to donate monies to the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) in memory of the late president. Polansky had been a member of the GLAF board of directors and was known for being a generous supporter of the arts. Fred Stamp, executive director of GLAF, accepted the donation with more kind words about Polansky, who died on July 1. Shown with Titus is Polansky's wife of 41 years, Elizabeth "Betty" Polansky, and children Anna L. Polansky, Thomas Polansky, and Barbara McCarthy.

learning about contacts. "We have a good idea of which way to go now — we're not running blind," Dixon said. "The conference was a big success," said Keith Adams of Yoder's. "It was a learning experience for us. . . . We met dozens and dozens of officials. I consider it to have been a very worthwhile thing to do."

Moe praised the organizers of the event, stating in an address at the conference that he appreciated the officials' effort to educate and inform business people of procurement possibilities that could help businesses grow.

He also thanked Joe Kramer, plant manager of the Deer Park Spring Water facility, who donated cases of Deer Park bottled water for the convention. The bottles shocked to find out that Deer Park Spring Water is from Garrett County," Moe said. "I believe we're getting the word out that there is a lot to be proud of in Garrett County."

Grantsville B&E Investigated By Md. State Police

A case of breaking and entering in the Grantsville area has been under investigation by the Maryland State Police of the McHenry barracks.

According to a report filed last Thursday, an unknown female suspect entered the home of Margie Menges around 2:20 p.m. Upon discovering the intruder, the victim's son chased her on foot from the home and eastbound on Route 40. The female suspect was reportedly picked up by a male suspect who was driving a tan or gray vehicle.

Anyone with information on this case is asked to contact the police barracks at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Two Injured
An accident on Marsh Hill Road on Tuesday resulted in injuries to two people.

Police reported that at 4:15 p.m. Jessica Perry, while attempting to turn onto Marsh Hill Road from Winding Way, drove her Chevrolet Cavalier into the path of a Ford Explorer driven by Bonnie Ann Wilt of Oakland.

Perry and Michael McRobie, a passenger in the Ford vehicle, were taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor in-

Swanton Woman Injured In Fall At Swallow Falls

A Swanton woman was injured Monday afternoon when she fell from the falls at Swallow Falls State Park, according to Department of Natural Resources Police.

Jeanne A. Thayer, 44, reportedly fell as she was checking on the safety of one of her two children who were swimming below the falls at the time of the 4 p.m. incident. She was flown to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Trooper 5, the Medevac helicopter of the Maryland State Police, where she remained hospitalized in stable condition as of yesterday afternoon.

"Over the course of the three-day visit, the resource team will examine information about our community, meet with community leaders, discuss ideas with the Main Street board and finally suggest a strategy for local action to help revitalize the area," he stated.

Although the team members work together to develop a comprehensive set of recommendations, their investigation and presentation will follow the four points of the Main Street approach to downtown revitalization: organization of broad-based local leadership; design of downtown; promotion to market the downtown's opportunities; and economic restructuring to help strengthen and expand the downtown's economic base.

The resource team is also expected to address topics of local interest, including the possibility of a Wal-Mart opening on the outskirts of town; the ongoing debate about an Oakland bypass; and the possibility of a major transportation corridor being built through Garrett County and what effect that could have on downtown revitalization efforts.

Oakland became one of five Maryland cities to win a Main Street designation last year, and the Appalachian Regional Commission approved grants to enhance the local Main Street effort. Additional support has come from the Greater Oakland Business Association and the mayor and town council.

For more information on the upcoming visit by national and state Main Street representatives, persons may call Glenn Tolbert at 301-533-4477.

The selected option for the upgraded Route 219 would involve a roadway east of the intersection of Route 40 and Chestnut Ridge Road and west of the historic landmark Stonehouse.

"This is the option that would have the least impact on the homeowners in the area. The route as drawn would disturb no homes," Holliday said.

In addition to supporting the eastern route for the roadway, the council's letter favors the construction of a welcome center to be shared by both states. "It might be the only one of its kind," Holliday noted.

Members of the business association and Grantsville area residents are encouraged to stop in the town office to see the maps of suggested highway routes stretching north to the state boundary. There is a box in the office where residents can submit letters of opinion to state officials on the future road improvements through the Grantsville corridor.

Reality To Hit Home In New Program For Young Offenders

by David Foster

Over five million of America's youth may be addicted to alcohol or drugs, according to some statistics which also reveal that such substance abuse by teens and young adults can be a key element in crimes and serious automobile accidents. What the numbers can't reveal, however, are the holes left in the hearts of loved ones and friends that are left without one of their own who has been taken from them by imprisonment, severe injury, or death.

Reality of Garrett County is an early intervention alternative sentencing program for youth between the ages of 14 and 21 who have experienced drug- or alcohol-related problems. The program, a cooperative effort between the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police, is designed to give at-risk teens and young adults a realistic look at the effects of alcohol and drugs on their lives, see the consequences of their choices, and take responsibility for their actions.

"Reality is a new step for citizens and local law enforcement to get involved in the lives of the young people of Garrett County," commented Lt. Larry Gnegy of the Sheriff's Office, who coordinates the county's Reality program along with Tfc. Terry Ober of the Maryland State Police. "It's a multi-faceted effort to assist our county's youth in the process of learning to make wise decisions, face life's responsibilities, and deal with their own addiction problem if one exists — all in order to place them on a fast track to responsibility. Early intervention in the juvenile alcohol and drug experience is essential if a program hopes to break the grip of addiction."

Founded in 1991 by a Tennessee minister, the Reality program has reportedly experienced tremendous success in the 28 Tennessee counties and the five Maryland jurisdictions where it has already been instituted. Less than five percent of the juvenile and underage alcohol and drug offenders who have participated have re-offended.

The Reality program runs for four consecutive Saturday nights, 2½ hours a night, during which participants are confronted with their choices, their actions, and the tragic results that can ensue. "The youth deal with topics including drug and alcohol diseases, addiction, alcohol's effects upon the family and community, developing family relationships, the dynamics of paralyzation and injury, the finality of death, and above all, responsibility development," Gnegy said.

"I'm one of several of the initial instructors in the program," he continued. "In order to be an instructor you have to go through the program as a student first. In sessions I went through were pretty hard-hitting, even for an adult like myself.

ELKS DONATE TO REALITY PROGRAM - Oakland's BPOE Lodge #2481 donated $7,500 to the Reality Program of Garrett County last week, etaking the combined effort of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police to a healthy start. The Oakland Elks Lodge is the only organization in the state west of Baltimore to sponsor a Reality Program, which has enjoyed tremendous success in educating teens and young adults about the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse since it began in Tennessee seven years ago. Above, from left, Elks Lodge #2481 Grand Exalted Ruler Russell Eddy presents Reality founder Rev.

"One of the scenarios involves the enactment of a car accident, following which each student has to draw up a personal care plan as if they've been paralyzed because of the wreck. They are required to, as their families and doctor would in reality have to, plan and document what they will be doing each and every hour, 24 hours a day, for the first month of their paralysis following the accident. This includes everything from therapy sessions, eating, bathing, and watching television, to being turned in their bed every four hours.

"What participants realize from this exercise is that not only does an injury of that magnitude completely change their lives, but also the amount of care and attention they will need to be willing to ask for, and receive from others just to survive. After the personal care plan is documented, they have to go to family members and friends to get them to agree to take care of them, to perform even the intimate tasks of washing, bathing, and helping them go to the bathroom. Participants have to write in the names of each person who agrees to take care of them next to each task.

"That exercise is pretty humbling," Gnegy said, adding that the scenario has actually been played out for real in Tennessee, where a former Reality program participant was involved in a car accident that paralyzed him. His parents, who had agreed to take care of him when he asked as part of the assignment, actually used the personal care plan as a guide to help them take care of their son.

Jerry Gaho with a symbolic check; also witnessing the presentation are Rendy Whitacre of the Department of Juvenile Justice, Circuit Court Judge James Sherbin, Elks' past regional president Frank Clopper, current Elks' regional vice president Walter Shepherd, Maryland State Senator John Hafer, Garrett County Sheriff P.R. "Dick" Sanders, sheriff's deputy and Reality instructor guide Charles Nolan, and superintendent of the Maryland State Police Col. David Mitchell. Below, Sheriff Sanders accepts the Reality Program certificate on behalf of Garrett County from Rev. Gaho.

Another component of the program is the writing of "Last Letters," where participants are required to write three personal letters of goodbye to their family, their sweetheart, and their best friend. These private and personal letters are sealed, collected, and filed away by the Reality program coordinator until the participant's 21st birthday.

In the event the letter-writer dies as a result of alcohol or drug involvement before that time, the letter is handdelivered by a police officer to the addressed person, to read.

A third approach is the obituary-writing exercise, in which participants write their own obituaries, including listing their surviving family, then going to a funeral home to make their own funeral arrangements, including picking out their own casket. "We urge the kids to take their parents with them when they visit the funeral home. It brings an aspect of the finality of death to their thinking when they see their parents walking into a funeral home and make their own funeral arrangements in front of them," said Gnegy.

Other exercises include behind-the-scenes visits to the emergency room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Circuit Court, where personnel will discuss the medical and legal ramifications of substance abuse; placement in a Garrett County Detention Center holding cell (clad in bright orange inmate jumpsuits); discussions with inmates who will share how their choices and actions and the resulting incarceration have changed their lives; and discussions with families who have lost loved ones because of accidents caused by drunk driving.

"Sometimes law enforcement concentrates only on the effect of one's actions on their own lives," Gnegy said. "Reality does that, but also opens kids' eyes by painting a realistic picture of how other family members and other people would suffer the consequences of their actions as well. As tough as kids might seem, no one wants to make their loved ones suffer. In my classes in Westminster, kids started the first night real street-wise, thinking they wouldn't get anything out of the program; but by the time they got to the parts that put tough issues in their face you could see a change in their outlooks."

Citizens, including victims of crime, who seek an opportunity to get involved with young offenders and confront the problem of crime in their communities are encouraged to sign up for training as volunteer instructors with the local program, a commitment of four Saturday evenings in the span of one month. For further information concerning the Reality program, interested persons may contact Lt. Gnegy at the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911, or Tfc. Ober at the Maryland State Police at 410-758-4793.

Let's Just Hire Them...

A couple weeks ago this column focused on the arbitrary and grossly unequal levels of compensation paid to citizens who are appointed by the county commissioners to serve on various boards and advisory groups. It was noted that history, time, and a variety of other circumstances were among the reasons for such inequities, and that efforts should be made to eliminate them.

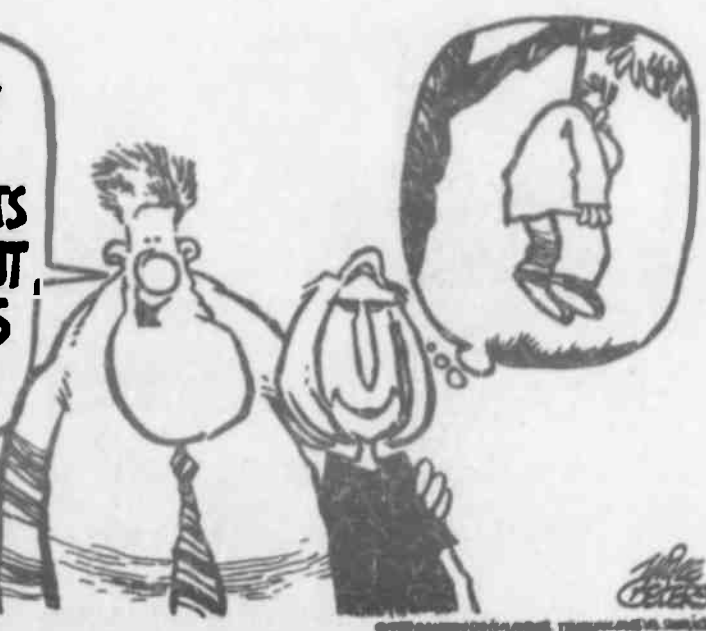

With the primary election just a few weeks away, and over five dozen local candidates scurrying to garner support from the voters, we are reminded of another situation that has become archaic and in need of reform. There are a number of county positions which we fill via public elections that, in our opinion, should be determined not by election, but simply by application and hiring by the commissioners. These include the offices of county treasurer, register of wills, judges of the orphans' court, clerk of the circuit court, state's attorney, circuit court judge, and sheriff.

Each of these positions, if filled appropriately, require persons with specific skills and experience in areas such as finance, management, secretarial, clerical, human relations, and law, and various combinations thereof, depending upon the position. However, the electoral process guarantees nothing in terms of getting the most highly skilled, most experienced person for the job. In fact, many times the most competent person gets eliminated, perhaps because he or she is facing a more politically favored, or more popular, or more wealthy candidate in the election. Indeed, many who would do an outstanding job in one of the above positions refuse to pursue the job since landing it requires the arduous, expensive task of engaging in a political, sometimes mud-slinging, campaign.

We would prefer to see these seats filled just as other hired positions are in county and state government — by making application, going through the interview process, and ultimately being hired on one's education, level of competency, and experience.

Despite the fact that our newspaper would lose a significant chunk of advertising sales if many of these positions were to become hired ones instead of elected ones, we would still prefer to see some reform of a system that was created a long time ago and has not been altered to keep pace with the times.

NOW THAT I'VE TESTIFIED, HILLARY WANTS ME TO HANG OUT AT MARTHA'S VINEYARD.

To the Editor:

I can't be quiet any longer about this proposed bypass around Oakland. I know, all the bigwigs and elected officials think it's best. They tell us it is the only answer and it has to be done now or we'll all regret it. As hard as I have tried to open my mind to it, I only find myself dreading the destruction and feeling angry that these people seem to think those of us with hesitations are simply naive. I have tried to just accept the thing because I strongly suspect it's a done deal — all that's really left to do is to say goodbye to the land and trees. But even though I've tried to think otherwise, I just can't believe it's a good idea.

Times, they are a-changing, which is, of course, inevitable. But I am disillusioned with some people in positions of leadership (not all) who seem to have a completely different view of what this county should be. Some seem to want us to be just like other places; they want us to change completely because what we are is apparently not right, in their minds anyway. They actually want strip mall development, lots more pavement, and noisy, smelly highways and byways that destroy farmland and wooded areas. They are constantly unhappy with what we have now and are on some kind of quest to make it what they conceive as better.

I will with you, but I don't want to see the kind of development that is being proposed.

Sincerely,
Mary Sincell McEwen

To the Editor:

There has been a lot of talk about a proposed north-south limited-access highway through Garrett County. Will it ruin our way of life, or lead to prosperity? I suggest we look at I-68 and its limited access predecessor, US 48. Have the communities of Grantsville and Friendsville been ruined? Friendsville appears little changed. Grantsville residents no longer have heavy traffic through town.

Well, the county is a beautiful park attracted a lot of clients, but one just doesn't have to go to Cumberland.

town. Yes, there is a problem at the intersection of Third and Oak. There has been a problem there for years and years. But to build a multi-million dollar bypass? It's like using a bazooka to shoot a rat.

I get the impression that some folks just want the construction because it's big and bold. It's almost as if they feel that we are getting some attention here and we ought to take it while we can get it, even if it means dredging up the land, destroying houses, and changing the face of our home. We don't get much attention from state agencies, some might feel, and if they are actually going to do this big thing, we must "rate" somehow. Sort of like setting a nice big hip-to-foot plaster cast for a twisted toe.

I believe there must be ways to calm the traffic troubles without spending so much tax money to build an intrusive bypass that might truly hurt downtown Oakland more than help it. There is a lot of intelligence around here. There are people who have innovative ideas and who can articulate them.

This place, Garrett County, is different from any other. Can't we come up with some different solutions to this problem? I really hope we can stay true to our nature and go at this thing from an unexpected angle, keeping our home unique and original, as it has always been.

Sincerely,
Mary Sincell McEwen

mayors, the Deep Creek Lake POA, the local Dept. of Economic Development, and the majority of candidates for commission — currently favors a proposal which (if enacted) will result in the most costly seizure of private property by the state in Garrett County's history. I refer, of course, to the "concept" of routing Continental One through the length of our county.

There is no doubt that the super highway proposal enjoys the support of powerful politicians and interests outside Garrett County. The sad irony is that the most vocal and ardent local lobbying effort on behalf of the concept has been orchestrated from within by our own Chamber of Commerce, an organization operating with the support of substantial tax revenue generated and allocated by local government.

The Chamber's lobbying efforts in this regard has been independent of any official county position on the issue, smartly planned and

THROWN OUT OF OFFICE

New experiences produce new connections in a person's mind. My recent travels to central and eastern Europe gave me a new context for reflecting upon the major news stories of the summer.

When I left Ukraine at the beginning of August, I traveled to Prague for a few days of actual vacation before returning home. Prague, capital of the Czech Republic, is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. It is crowned with the castle that overlooks the city and the Moldau River.

I was touring the castle just after I heard the news of the turn in the Monica Lewinsky case. First there was the prospect of her grand jury testimony, then the testimony, and then everything else which has flowed from the events which her testimony unleashed.

My mind was fresh from impressions of post-communist eastern and central Europe, only to encounter all at once in the news the tragic, the worrying, and the patently absurd. President Clinton was being implicated by Monica Lewinsky in what originally was only a scandal, but which, through systematic denial, might actually have become criminal. It was hard to believe that this same foolish man would guide our nation through the vagaries of economic uncertainty and would make final decisions about the appropriate response to the terrorist bombings of our embassies.

Such were my thoughts as I toured Prague Castle and learned something of Czech history. I learned, for example, that the Czech people have a long democratic tradition that goes back to the early 1400s, even though they were part of the Austrian Empire for centuries and then suffered oppression by the Soviet Union for 41 years.

One illustration of that democratic tradition seemed especially relevant. In 1618, 100 Czech noblemen entered Prague Castle for the purpose of registering their protest with the imperial governors. Things did not go well during their conversation, and the noblemen lost their tempers. They picked up the two governors and threw them out the window, what the Czech history books called "the Defenestration," which means, literally, "from the window."

The lives of the two governors were saved because beneath the window from which they were thrown stood a pile of manure—presumably a very deep pile of manure—which cushioned their fall.

It was in the very room of the castle from which the two governors were thrown, and pondered the significance of this as a political act and even as a model for some reason the Monica Lewinsky case is being brought up.

Recently I had a philosophical conversation with my friend Sheila as we sat at a picnic table savoring a slice of our mutual friend Lori's hand-picked-home-baked cherry pie. We addressed issues of the changes that had come with aging: gray hair and greater wisdom.

The greater wisdom part could be summed up as: "Life is too short to have a clean house." We reflected on the shared experience of having maintained spotless homes when our children were small; of exhausting our God-given energies of youth pacing behind vacuum cleaners. "What had we been thinking?" we asked ourselves and each other.

Though with the wisdom of the years we find shortcuts to get the house work done quickly, sometimes, just sometimes, we must immerse ourselves in those tasks that require minute attention and too much time.

Saturday I approached one such undertaking. You know it's serious when I put on my glasses and dig out an old toothbrush to clean the bathroom.

There are some cleaning jobs that a rag or sponge aren't up to. Nooks and crannies may be great on English muffins but they are far from desirable on the hinges of toilet seats and lids, and along the bottom edge of the shower enclosure. It's for those tough tasks one needs to work with tiny instruments and the precision of a surgeon.

If only someone would design all household items with smooth, flat surfaces. If only Bill Gates would get past this computer phase of his and put some of his money and moxie into inventing something really important to the human race like, maybe, the self-cleaning bathroom. Now that I'd pay money for. What do you say, Gates, are you up to that challenge?

implemented, and extremely effective in containing public debate on the highway proposal.

Thanks to Chamber lobbying, the argument that fiscal and environmental costs of the highway concept dramatically exceed any demonstrable benefit to the county and should therefore take priority over wishful thinking has been marginalized.

With regard to the issue of governmental infringement on the rights of property owners, I would suggest that if we believe we have a little problem with "Big Brother" currently operating from outside, then we must also consider the very real possibility that we also have a big problem—now—with "Baby Brother" operating

Virginia Woman Found Guilty Of Resisting Arrest

Following a two-day jury trial in the Circuit Court of Garrett County, a teenager from Manassas, Va., was convicted last Friday of disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, and second degree assault. Tera Ann Orey, 18, the defendant, was then sent by Judge James Sherbin to the Garrett County Jail pending the outcome of a pre-sentence investigation.

Orey and others had been arrested in February after Trooper Jesse Broadwater of the Maryland State Police responded to a call from the Comfort Inn in McHenry. The caller had reported disorderly guests and requested police intervention.

When Broadwater entered the suspects' room, he also began investigating possible drug violations. According to the report, the trooper was then assaulted by the occupants, with Orey among them. As Broadwater attempted to arrest Orey for the initial charges, she allegedly swung at the officer with her hand, grabbed him, refused commands to lie on the floor, and swung at him with the handcuffs with which he was trying to restrain her. Additional charges of disturbing the peace and marijuana possession were dismissed prior to the trial for a lack of evidence specifically tying Orey to those offenses, according to a state's attorney's office report.

In another case last week, Sherbin sent a Baltimore woman to jail for 30 days. Betty Leallen Granger, 21, pleaded guilty to second degree assault and Sherbin handed down the month sentence.

Granger apparently hit

James Yoak, Swanton, in the head and attempted to spit on him during an altercation in April of this year. Deputy J. Bittinger of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office was investigating a report of underage drinking at the time of the fight. The deputy apparently witnessed the assault and arrested the defendant.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

There is a new menace in Garrett County. National parks have outlawed them. Cities, such as Pittsburgh, Pa., are severe in their plans to restrict them on their three rivers. Other states and counties are taking similar action due to citizen complaints.

The "problem child" is commonly referred to as PWCs (personal water crafts). I have a better name for PWCs...let's call them "public warning—collision!" I am not upset with the PWCs themselves or some of the private owners here at Deep Creek Lake who enjoy this relatively inexpensive fun machine. They are mature adults (not just older folks), who have enjoyment while respecting other boaters and the various assortment of "water machines" on the lake.

The problem seems to be the owners of the rental companies that specialize in these "water motorcycles" and fail to properly warn and/or supervise those who pay them money to use these "wasps of the water." They are only interested in their profit margin and have little or no concern for the safety of those in sailboats, canoes, fishing boats, motor boats, or pontoons who use the lake in a safe manner and follow the rules of the "watery road." The problem stems from vacationing yahoos (that's people who drink and yell: "yahoo") as they pass so close that you can count the hairs on their arms and legs. These "human buzz," who try to cram a month's vacation into a week...or a week's vacation into a weekend, have no conception of the dangers that they cause. They have a "get out of my way" attitude as they zig and zag this way and that way and sometimes flip over in your path at speeds as high as 60 miles an hour.

Some of you may wonder what I know of the dangers. The answer is simple: I was injured last Labor Day when a PWC chasing another PWC from shore to shore "torpedoed" the motor boat in which I was a passenger. Everyone on our craft was slightly injured. The youthful driver and passenger on the PWC were tossed over our heads and into the water a good distance from us. They were more seriously injured. The two crafts stayed afloat because one was sticking into the side of the other. Someone could have died, as has been the case in accidents throughout the country involving these "little monsters."

The government agencies responsible for your safety will do little or nothing about the problem until

To the Editor:

A few weeks ago Our Town Theatre received its own 501 (c) (3) status from the Internal Revenue Service. We at O.T.T. celebrate this benchmark in our short history and now want to express our appreciation to the organizations and individuals who have worked so hard to make this goal attainable.

First, we express a special thanks to the Garrett County Arts Council for the umbrella of their own 501 (c) (3). Without the temporary use of their tax-exempt status, we would have made only a dent in the renovation of our building, and more than likely we would not be in production. The GCAC's coverage gave us the opportunity to garner tax-exempt contributions from the community to meet fire codes and handicapped accessibility stipulations. Their monetary contribution as well as their superb leadership through Steve Schlosnagle and Helen Earles has reaped benefits for us which are too numerous to count. We feel incredibly lucky to have the dynamic support of the Garrett County Arts Council.

Without the expertise of Jo Sheffield, of Devine and Sheffield, we would never have been able to complete the pages and pages of application for the Internal Revenue Service. If it hadn't been for the apt guidance of Leonard Eiswert, of Eiswert and Janes, our by-laws as well as our articles of incorporation would still be in the making. Thanks to these two selfless individuals, we are now fully incorporated by the state of Maryland and are recognized as a tax-exempt corporation by the U.S. Government.

As always we want to thank the community for their generosity, interest, and attendance. Our next newsletter will be mailed soon. It will contain a schedule of events for the fall as well as an article on opportunities for volunteers.

Finally, we want to extend heartfelt gratitude to The Republican for your generous coverage of our projects. We appreciate all that you do for us and celebrate the fact that we have an award-winning, arts-conscious newspaper to inform the community about our future plans.

Kudos to all of the above.

Sincerely yours,
O.T.T.O.

ABOUT THE STATE BAR ASSOCIATION'S ENDORSEMENT

My opponent has announced that the Maryland State Bar Association has endorsed him. I have seen no such announcement.

If it is true it means nothing. The State Bar Association is a private organization. I am not a member. The last I heard, Mr. Sherbin was a member. No one from that association has contacted me or interviewed me nor have they interviewed my peers here in Garrett County. How then can the association intelligently endorse anyone in this election?

I have informed the State Bar Association in no uncertain terms that I would not join despite regular efforts to get me to do so over the years. I do not support the Bar Association's ultra liberal positions on gun control and other issues and do not wish to be associated with it.

THE GARRETT COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION HAS NOT ENDORSED ANY CANDIDATE IN THIS ELECTION AND WILL NOT DO SO. ASK LOCAL LAWYERS THEIR HONEST AND CANDID OPINION ON THE JUDICIAL RACE.

An endorsement is only as good as the information on which it is based. If you want to see real, meaningful endorsements, look at the ad run by The Committee to Elect Robert E. Watson in this issue.

Sincerely,
Bob Watson

GIFTS OF APPRECIATED SECURITIES

(This information brought to you by the Planned Gifts Committee of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation.)

A Taxwise Way to Give

Unprecedented Stock Growth

Over the last several years, we have seen a historic rise in the stock market. Many stock holders have a tremendous level of unrealized gain.

That is the good news. The bad news is if these stocks are sold, even with the changes in capital gains rates, at least 20% of the gain will be lost to Federal Income Tax. Now is a strategic time to consider the effectiveness of gifting these types of assets.

Gifting Appreciated Assets

Making outright gifts, it is typically wise financial planning to gift assets that are in the form of appreciated securities. Unlike gifts of cash that have already incurred an income tax, gifts of appreciated assets avoid the incurring of capital gain tax. In addition, you receive an income tax charitable deduction for the full fair market value of the asset. That, in effect, makes these gifts less costly to make. If it is your desire to make a gift, please consider a gift of appreciated assets. Here is how the numbers work:

What is the "Cost" to Make a Gift
	Sell Stock & Gift Proceeds	Gift Stock
Value of Asset	$ 10,000	$ 10,000
Original Purchase Price	$ 2,500	$ 2,500
Amount of Appreciation	$ 7,500	$ 7,500
Capital Gain Tax	$ 2,063
Proceeds to Charity (Asset Minus Tax)	$ 7,937	$ 10,000
Income Tax Savings (43.5% Fed & State*)	$ 3,453	$ 4,350
Capital Gain Tax Avoided (27.5% Fed & State*)	$ 0	$ 2,063
Total Tax Savings	$ 3,453	$ 6,413
"Cost" of Gift to You	$ 6,547	$ 3,587

As you can see, the full value of a gift of stock goes directly to the work of your favorite charity at the lowest "cost". This is true due to an income tax charitable deduction for the full value plus avoidance of capital gain tax. This is a valuable way to leverage your giving and take full advantage of the available tax benefits the government allows at this time. Consult your tax advisor for specific application to your personal tax situation.

*This example assumes an 18-month holding period, a 20% federal capital gain rate, a 36% regular income tax rate, and a 7.5% state income tax rate; however, tax rates vary from state to state.

Western Maryland needs a Senator who speaks up when it counts.

Dave Thomas makes sense!

Dave Thomas knows the importance of making his voice heard when it can make a difference. He knows there are times to vote "Yes" and times to vote "No". That's one reason voters throughout Western Maryland are saying the same thing...

"Dave Thomas would make a great Senator." He won't be content to criticize decisions after they happen. He will demand a seat at the table on any State discussion affecting our District. The difference is leadership.

The Thomas Effectiveness Pledge

1. The State of Maryland must become a better partner for our local economy

2. Western Maryland deserves a Senator who works with our delegation openly and effectively

3. State decisions that affect our District should be made with the informed input of our Senator and the people he represents

MTN. LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held Tuesday, Aug. 25.

• Guy Tuel presented the council with a U.S. flag to be flown at the town's veterans' park.

• Deputy Helbig updated the council on his town patrol. He asked if high school juniors and seniors could earn community service hours by helping elderly and disabled citizens with yard work. The council will look into this.

• Lighting at the veterans' park needs to be improved. This will be pursued.

• The council members were invited to an open house of the two homes in Mtn. Lake Park built by Habitat for Humanity.

• John Nelson of the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning attended the meeting. He talked with the council about the problem of junk cars in the town and about several zoning issues. He will work with new council members to familiarize them with building permit procedures. The council will notify all residents that permits are required for all improvements to property.

• There was a second reading of the MLP public ethics ordinance and it was adopted. Members will be selected for the public ethics committee.

• An estimate has been submitted by Todd Lewis for repairing the roof of the ticket house in the park. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 8.

KITZMILLER

The town meeting was held Monday, Aug. 24.

• Wendell Beitzel of the Garrett Sanitary District gave the council members an update on work being done at the water plant. At 460 foot well has been dug to supply water at 50 gallons per minute. He said the water seems to be good in both quality and quantity. The town will soon switch to the new well as its main supply and the well presently in use will become a backup system. This work was accomplished through grant funding and did not increase the town's debt.

• Council member Nancy Brady reported that she had written to the National Guard asking for assistance in working on the town park. She is also trying to get utility poles for lighting and for use on the foot bridge.

• The council will invite Barbara Hawk of the Institute for Government Service to help with the fall workshop on the town charter.

• Recent heavy rains resulted in drainage problems for some residents. Culverts need to be replaced and methods for doing this were discussed.

• There was discussion of potential use of the old municipal building for some business purpose. Nancy Brady will meet with a representative from Community Action to discuss this issue.

The next town meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 28.

DISPLAY WINDOW REFURBISHED - The window beautification committee of the Mtn. Laurel Garden Club did a lot more than decorate the window of the Ruth Enlow Library last week. The display area, which was the original entrance to the library building in Oakland, was sorely in need of some serious work. Old burlap had been glued to walls and ceiling in the window area for decades. A dedicated group of club members (and auxiliary member spouses) peeled off the old and faded wall coverings and gave a clean bright Williamsburg look to the display case, which features Wadsworth blue trim and white walls. The door, also blue, boasts decorative wood detailing. Gnagy Construction Company owner Troy Gnagy donated his time, materials, and expertise to the task, and other local businesses also contributed to the project. The moving force behind the work posed this week in front the updated window. They are, from left to right, Jack and Marilyn Ragentin, Mary and Fred Warthar, and Troy Gnagy.

Herman Teaches At Confratute, Holds Workshops

Confratute '98, the international conference/institute on educating gifted and talented children, was held recently at the University of Connecticut, and among those presenting strands for educators and parents was local resident Dr. Gail N. Herman, who taught Storytelling: Art Form and Teaching Tool in the Mime and Movement Kinesthetic Curriculum.

Confratute is in its 21st year and is sponsored jointly by the Neag Center for Gifted Education and Talent Development and the Connecticut State Department of Education, and is considered one of the world's most definitive conferences/institutes on gifted education. Attended by more than 900 educators and parents from the United States, Canada, South America, Europe, and Asia, Confratute is a unique two-week program for researchers, teachers, administrators, counselors, and parents who want to nurture the abilities and talents in all children, using the methods of enrichment teaching and learning developed in special programs for the gifted.

Dr. Herman also recently conducted workshops for Garrett County teachers on the topic of enrichment in the classroom. She brought to these workshops the latest information from the National Research Center at the University of Connecticut.

Local enrichment teachers who attended one of the workshops were: Sheila Russell, Barbara Conway, James Friend, Maureen Sharps, Cherie Rettel, and Joy Paxton. Classroom teachers who attended workshops included: Dana McCauley, Shirley Skillman, Lorie Burdock, and Carole Grotfelty, all of Broad Ford Elementary; Linda Stephens and Debra DeWitt of Crelia Elementary; Mary Jane Robertson of Grantsville Elementary; and Cathy Helbig, Arlene Lantz, Lenore Powell, Pam Stover, and Suzie Sincell, all of Dennett Road Elementary.

"A Fall Reunion" Is Theme Of 57th Annual Buckwheat Festival

"A Fall Reunion" is the theme chosen for the 57th Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival, slated to begin in Kingwood on Thursday, Sept. 24, just four short weeks from today. The festival will continue through Sunday, Sept. 27.

Sponsored each year by the Kingwood Volunteer Fire Department, the four-day event will feature amusement rides and concessions by Shaw & Sons Amusement; three gigantic parades: the Fireman's Parade on Thursday evening, the School/Community Day Parade on Friday afternoon, and the Farmers' Day Parade on Saturday; arts and crafts displays, livestock showmanship contests, judging, and sale; produce and canned goods; commercial, school, and club exhibits; a coronation of Queen Ceres LVII Samantha Dixon and King Buckwheat LVII Grant Harsh; and a wide variety of food, including Preston County's famous buckwheat cake and sausage dinners.

Other planned activities include an expanded antique show and sale at the Craig Civic Center, a car show, a draft horse pull, the 7th Annual Preston County Buckwheat Festival 5K Classic (a 5K run and two-mile walk), the Heritage Day Classic Road Race, a banjo and fiddlers' contest, a performance by the Wheeling Symphony, a turkey calling contest and sportsman show, a band spectacular, and a variety of performers on stage each evening.

Performing at the Buckwheat Festival for the first time ever will be the Platara, a '50s style singing group who will be on stage in the Preston High School auditorium on Friday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. More information about this performance will be listed in a future edition of The Republican.

Another highlight of this year's event will be a visit by the historic Coors Belgian draft horse team.

Begun in 1938, the Buckwheat Festival was designed to be a homecoming cele-

COUNTY COMMISSIONER DISTRICT I

GET OUT AND VOTE SEPTEMBER 15, 1998

Each year for the past 31 years I have observed the June procession of graduates at Southern High School as they receive their diplomas. Many smiles; some tears as they and their journey of 13 years through the Garrett County school system.

Very few of these young people have an opportunity to live and work in the communities in which they were born and raised.

I have been painfully aware of this problem and will do all I can to encourage the creation of jobs in Garrett County.

After all the rhetoric has been published and the politician's promises have been forgotten, who do you believe will remember their commitments to the citizens of Garrett County? Who do you believe will dedicate himself to bring jobs to our communities?

As a Garrett County Commissioner, your concerns will be my concerns.

By authority: Beverly J. Beard, treasurer

PERSONAL MENTION

Youth of the Bethel United Methodist Church, Horse Shoe Run, met Saturday night, Aug. 15, at their church for a lock-in.

Betty Moore of Stemple Ridge was an August 18 surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Love is a growing thing and like every growing thing, it needs nourishment. So water it with consideration, protect it with unselfishness, feed it with spontaneity, handle it with care.

And surely it will flourish and grow in splendor, and fill you with happiness and contentment all the days of your lives.

Tricia Winquest

Mary Allman of Eglon underwent surgery Monday at Preston Memorial Hospital.

Melvin and Melissa Frantz visited his parents, Don and Neva Frantz, at Eglon last week. They are moving to Virginia where Melvin will be stationed at Langley Field.

There were 39 of the Nelson and Carrie Harsh descendants attending the family reunion held August 16 at the Maple Spring Church pavilion.

George, Rhonda, and Zack White of Abingdon, Md., were weekend visitors with Ron and Avenell Parsons in Eglon. Mrs. White is Mr. Parsons' granddaughter.

Bruce, Marv, Shawn, and Craig Rembold vacationed last week in Pittsburgh, where they visited his mother, Eileen Rembold, and friends, the Fred Herbers.

Marv and Caitlin Norwisch of Eglon returned with Julie and Grayson Baker to Virginia Beach, and expect to return to Eglon this week. Mrs. Baker and her son had visited with her parents and sister, the Tom Lewises, and her husband's family, Steven Baker, Carolyn Baker, Lauren and Leah.

The Harsh, Corbin, and Hayes families attended the West Virginia State Fair at Lewisburg and exhibited Angus cattle.

Other families have attended both the West Virginia State Fair and the Az Progress Days at Rock Springs, Pa. August 20 was Governor's Day at the state fair and Terry and Jill Hauser of Eglon received the Young Farmer Award, a West Virginia Agriculture Achievement award. Ed Grose of Terra Alta received the Innovation in Agriculture award at the same time, and the Larkin B. Ours family of Grant County were Heritage Award winners. These awards are sponsored by the West Virginia Farm Bureau and the State Fair of West Virginia.

Claude and Jean Winters of Eglon went Saturday to Ripley, where they attended the 50th wedding anniversary of friends Glenn and Edna Kaul.

Word was received here by relatives that Kathleen Radcliff had been discharged from the hospital, but fell at the home of her son in Ohio and fractured vertebrae in her back. She will be entering a rehabilitation center for therapy.

Harold and Helen Winters, Columbus, Ohio, were weekend visitors with Mrs. Winters' sister and brother-in-law, Hazel and Lewis Durst, Amboy.

Oakland All-Star Team Falls In State Tourney

The Oakland Junior Division Little League All-Star team played three games before being eliminated in the recent Maryland State Junior Division Championship Tournament held in Federalsburg.

Oakland represented District 1 by defeating Halfway of Hagerstown, 4-3, in the District 1 championship game held in Oakland on July 14. Dennis Tressler pitched the Oakland team to victory striking out nine batters while holding the powerful Halfway squad to three runs. Oakland scored three runs in the second inning on a grounder by Dan Cathell and a two-run single by Danny O'Brien.

In the seventh Tressler managed to strikeout Halfway's leadoff hitter, but proceeded to walk the next batter. The next two batters were robbed of extra base hits by outstanding defensive plays by Rex Hoalcraft.

With the bases loaded, Kevin Goralski came in to pitch. He walked the first batter he faced to tighten the score at 4-3, but then struck out the next three batters to preserve the win.

In state tournament play, the Oakland squad jumped out to an early lead over Havenwood (Anne Arundel County) with a powerful offensive explosion in the bottom of the first inning, but couldn't hold on for the win. After O'Brien and A.J. Bender led off with singles, Toby Stoner plated O'Brien on a long flyout to deep centerfield. Tressler then smashed a two-run homer down the leftfield line. Two batters later, Loudon followed with a deep home run to the left centerfield, staking the Oakland team to a 4-0 lead.

Goralski aided the Oakland cause over the next two innings by driving in four runs with two RBI singles, to give Oakland a 9-3 lead.

Havenwood clawed its way back into the lead, 11-9, with three runs in the fourth inning and five runs in the fifth.

O'Brien doubled home Matthew Stephens in the sixth to bring Oakland within one, at 11-10. In the bottom of the seventh Oakland nearly won after Dennis Tressler reached second base with two outs and Kevin Goralski hit a ball that was caught for the third out by the left fielder with his back against the outfield wall and his glove stretched above the top of the fence.

In the second game, Oakland faced West Salisbury in a nip and tuck game that saw three lead changes and three tie scores before Oakland prevailed, 9-7. The game was scoreless until the top of the third inning when Stephens led off with a single followed by a walk to Brandon Wilt followed by a single by O'Brien to load the bases. Bender drove in the first Oakland run with an RBI single that scored Stephens. Stoner then doubled into the right centerfield gap to plate Wilt and GIRLS' SOCCER RECEIVES SUPPORT - History will be made in Garrett County on Sept. 5 when the first-ever girls' varsity soccer team at Southern High School will take the field for its first match. The board of education approved programs for both Southern and Northern high schools, and among those providing financial support for the Southern program are the Oakland Rotary Club and the Mountaintop Soccer Association (MSA). Pictured above from left are: Ron Patralla, president of MSA and assistant coach at Southern; Nan Ganglar, SHS head coach; and Robert Ulino, representing the Rotary Club. MSA donated $500 and the Rotary Club contributed $300.

Bender. O'Brien closed out the scoring by tagging up on a long sacrifice fly by Dennis Tressler.

West Salisbury answered immediately by scoring four runs in its half of the inning to tie the score at 4-4, took a 5-4 lead in the fourth on a solo homer by Larry Miles.

Oakland came back to tie the game in the fifth when Loudon singled in Goralski, who had reached base on a single and moved to second on an error. Oakland took the lead again in the sixth, 7-5, when with two outs Bender and Stoner hit back to back singles, moved up a base on a wild pitch, and then scored on Dennis Tressler's line drive to right centerfield.

However, West Salisbury again came back to tie the score at 7 with two runs in the bottom of the sixth. Brandon Loudon began Oakland's winning rally with a leadoff single in the seventh. After a fielder's choice forced Loudon at second and a walk to Brandon Wilt, Danny O'Brien came through with a big two out double that scored Wilt and Matthew Stephens. With two outs and runners on first and second Danny O'Brien snagged Frank Harrison's line drive to end the game with a 9-7 Oakland victory.

In its final game, Oakland fell behind an excellent Caroline North team, 9-1, before staging a seven-run rally in the sixth. In the bottom of the sixth Dennis Tressler led off with a walk. After Goralski singled out, Loudon and Cathell followed with walks. Tressler scored on a single by Stephens. Loudon scored after tagging up on a long fly to right field by Randy Chapman. O'Brien singled to load the bases and Bender walked to plate Cathell. Toby Stoner then came through with a single to score Stephens followed by a double to the fence by Tressler to score O'Brien and Stoner, cutting Caroline's lead to 9-8.

After O'Brien held Caroline North scoreless in the top of the seventh, Loudon led off for Oakland and promptly reached first base after being hit by a pitch. Stephens hit a single sandwiched between two strikeouts to put runners on first and second with two outs. The game and season for Oakland ended when O'Brien's hard line drive was snagged by Caroline North second baseman K.C. Cook.

Overall the Oakland 13-year-old All-Stars won six of the eight playoff games spanning District 1 and state championship play.

The Caroline North team went on to defeat Havenwood of Anne Arundel County the following night. In the championship game, Caroline North (winners of the loser's bracket) defeated St. Mary's of southern Maryland. St. Mary's had won the regular (9-12 year-old) Maryland state championship last year. This forced a second game between the two opponents. St. Mary's won the second game to claim its second straight Maryland Little League state championship.

On a side note, many of this year's 13-year-old junior division players from Oakland were seen on ABC's nationally televised special called "The American Game". The special focused on Little League baseball and was filmed last summer in Hagerstown. In the process of following and filming footage of last summer's (1997) Hagerstown Little Leaguers, the film crew picked up footage of two games played against Oakland. Seen clearly in the special were Toby Stoner pitching, Dennis Tressler, Danny O'Brien, and A.J. Bender in the field, Billy Reams catching, and Matt Stephens batting.

The league has also scheduled its first homerun derby, which will be held Friday, Aug. 28, at the Grantsville Park, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The entrance fee to participate in the derby is $2, and all proceeds will go to the Epilepsy Foundation in memory of Jeff Roszell. Playoff results showed Bethel United Methodist, Maple Glen Mennonite, and Cornerstone, Assembly of God each winning two games, while Cherry Glade Mennonite, Maranatha Assembly of God, and Crellin United Methodist each won one contest.

Bethel UM defeated Oakland Church of the Nazarene, 28-23, behind winning pitcher Mike Ford, and rolled over Crellin Assembly of God, 26-9, with John Sharpless on the mound.

In the first win, Terry Chapman smacked three home runs and Mike Fazenbaker hit one for Bethel, while Lawrence Dawson hit two, and Steve Shaffer and Dave Jones each recorded one for Nazarene. In the victory over Crellin AG, Jeremy Whitacre, John Sharpless, Mark Hickman, and Terry Chapman each hit a homer for Bethel, and Brian Alexander had one for Crellin.

A MESSAGE FROM THE CANDIDATE

Government is first taught at home and our children are mirror reflections of our attitudes and beliefs. Concepts involving politics, economics, and taxation are impressed upon our young people at an early age and if they don't understand, they ask questions that adults are too reserved to ask.

It has been my privilege to have taught over 3,500 Garrett County young people during my professional career. Daily classroom discussions are perhaps the most interesting part of teaching government. I am exposed to the diversity of political views and sentiments of the county through the interpretation of our youth and it is amazing how perceptive they are. They understand government from a practical point of view, political rhetoric means nothing to them.

No one else running for the office of County Commissioner has had the opportunity to interact with so many individuals and to watch them grow into responsible members of the voting public.

As your County Commissioner, I will use my background and past experiences to continue to monitor the pulse of the voting public in order to represent you the way that you wish to be represented.

Your concerns will be my concerns.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER DISTRICT I

Garrett County

Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

This season will be known as the summer of the big fish in Garrett County, with two new records having been established recently. First we had John McCarly's record walleye catch (14 lbs., 4 ozs.) from the Jennings Randolph Reservoir, and more recently 8-year-old Sarah Brennehan's record bluegill (3 lbs., 7 ozs.) from Deep Creek Lake.

REGARDING BLUEGILLS

There is a continuous debate over what is better habitat for bluegills, weedy or non-weedy water? Some argue that since bluegills feed heavily on insects that cling to or live near weeds, weedy conditions should create bigger bluegills. Others say weeds provide too much shelter for bluegill prey. In actuality, research shows bluegill growth rates are similar under both conditions.

LOCAL FISHING REPORTS

As August winds down, fishing should be getting even better as water temperatures and water sport activities diminish. Currently, the trout are still being taken in the deeper water near the Deep Creek Lake dam (20 to 25 feet), and the walleye action has picked up off many of the points in Deep Creek. Night crawlers will work for both. Smallmouth are being taken on minnows in about 12 to 15 feet of water.

The trout fishermen have been getting steady action through the recent warm weather on the North Branch, Savage, and Youghiogheny rivers. The North Branch salmonids have been hitting stonefly patterns as usual along with caddis variations and terrestrials in slower water. On the Savage, tandem rigs of blue winged olives behind a size 16 elk hair caddis have been productive. Yough trout have been chasing both cream and dun variants, along with caddis and terrestrials.

BE KIND TO YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD BATS

Garrett County has no shortage of bats, that's for sure. And many people either find them offensive or frightening. The reality is that these bats perform a valuable service. For instance, a single bat can eat 600 mosquitoes an hour or half its body weight in insects during a single night.

BASS TOURNAMENT FOR SKEETER BOAT OWNERS ONLY

Garrett County bass fishermen who own Skeeter brand boats may want to consider trailering their rigs to Texas for the fifth annual Skeeter Owners Tournament to be held on Lake Fork this coming October 10 and 11. The tournament sponsors are offering big prizes and drawings. Each team entry is allowed to weigh in one fish per hour for a chance at hourly prizes. The overall winning team will receive a fully rigged Skeeter boat with a Yamaha engine. Prizes will be awarded to the top 20 teams. Additionally, $20,000 will be awarded to the first team breaking the Lake Fork bass record, along with cash for big fish weighing in at even pound weights. A Skeeter rig will be given via drawing at the barbecue following the tourney. For more information, anglers may call Kevin Brown at Skeeter Boats at 903-984-0541.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

GLORIOUS WIND AND WEATHER FOR SAILBOAT RACERS

By Dan Mass

The racing this weekend was just fine; on Saturday the wind was WSW from 5 to 10 knots and especially gusty and shifty. On Sunday it was about the same, but not quite so gusty.

The Race Committee was led by Vicki and Mo Willey, who set a traditional triangular course through the slot. I went out with a new young neighbor, Rick Holberger, who had lots of sailing experience, but did not know the Flying Scot. On the second downwind leg he had some trouble getting the spinnaker down and, in the turmoil, we hit the mark on the wrong side! That meant we had to first get the spinnaker down, then do a 360-degree penalty turn for hitting the mark, then go back and re-round the mark the right way. Needless to say, we were so far behind that we were almost overtaken by the first B Fleet boat.

Out again this weekend was John Meredith, this time sailing with Tom Wollfe in the first race on Saturday and with Dave Bertsch in the second race. It is interesting to note that in both cases those skippers won their race with John aboard.

Visiting Karl and Barbara Rath for the past few weeks is their lovely niece, Carla Schulte-Susse. She has been sailing with Karl and, on Sunday, Karl came in first with wife Barbara and niece Carla crewing. And another family team was made up for the second race on Saturday with Tom Wollfe at the helm, and dad Frank and nephew Josh Bullock crewing. I believe this was Josh's first sailboat race.

Jack and Lonnie Seelig have been racing in the Fly-ski and Ryan Schubert, second; Dave Bertsch with crew Ronn Downey, third. Lasers - Keith Spinnenweber, first; Dan Rubel, second; and Gordy Clefton, third.

Fishing Contest Winners Named

The winners of the Garrett County Fishing Contest sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce for the week ending August 23 are:

Yellow perch, 1 lb., 12 3/4 inches, caught by Matt Necker, Pasadena. Smallmouth bass, 2 lbs. 4 ozs., 16 3/4 inches, caught by Richard Wildeson, Swanton.

Largemouth bass, 2 lbs. 14 ozs., 18 inches, caught by Roger Beatty, Baltimore.

Chain pickerel, 1 lb. 5 ozs., 18 1/4 inches, caught by Paul S. Clay, Woodbine.

Weekly winners are awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, catches must be taken to Johnny's Bait House, Route 219, south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

Area Speedway Review

Roaring Knob Raceway Park

Still on a roll is Morgan town, W.Va.'s "Rollin' Nolan" Dalton, who captured his second consecutive Late Model win Sunday afternoon at Roaring Knob Raceway Park. Also picking up feature wins were Larry Kugel, E-Mod; Tom Truxell, Modified Stocks; and Jack Rosenbarger, Pure Stocks.

Prash off last Sunday's convincing win and the previous night's Late Model victory at Elkins Speedway, Dalton once again took command of the 3/8ths mile oval in his "spec motor" machine as he maneuvered his way through two multi-car crashes at the start of the 20-lap feature. Dalton got by front-running Mel Minnick Jr. as they completed the second lap, and he never looked back. First time visitor John Finner moved into second on the next round, and the chase to catch Dalton was on. Jim Kutas joined the hunt, but ran out of laps and settled for third behind Finner. Finishing fourth was Minnick with newcomer Corey Conley fifth. Sixth through 10th were Ken Sheltenbrand, Jim Stangry, Garry Slason, Jeff Miller, and Doug Timmons. Winners of the two heats were Dalton and Kutas.

Larry Kugel made the long tow from East Liverpool, Ohio, a successful one as he held off a persistent Brent Trimble for the win in the 15-lap E-Mod feature. Quint Milburn recovered from a mid-race spin to finish third, with Vince Leboon fourth and Buck Goodwin fifth. Shawn Davis won the heat race and Trimble picked up the win in the feature.

The feature for the Modified Stocks produced two firsts. Tom Truxell out of Plum won his first of the year at "the Knob," and T. J. Gindleeberger holds the distinction of being the first member of Roaring Knob's "Upside Down Club." The race was red flagged at the start as Gindleeberger got loose, hit the guard rail and flipped. Fortunately, he was uninjured. When racing resumed, Truxell and Jeff Keener put on a side-by-side show until the final lap when Rodney Youmans slid in to claim second, while Jesse Sturbetzel likewise wrestled third from Keener at the finish. A disappointed Keener settled for fourth, and Ralph King wound up fifth. Tom Humberston was the heat race winner.

Setting the stage for their upcoming "Pedal to the Metal" special, the Pure Stocks presented the fans with one of the most exciting races so far this season at Roaring Knob. Smithfield's Jimmy Shaffer, using the very high side of the race track, dualed with Brian Taylor for the first half of the event. Suddenly, coming out of the fourth turn, Shaffer's feature-win hopes disintegrated when the right front wheel broke on his car. Taylor inherited the lead, but Friedeville's favorite, Jack Rosenbarger, who had worked his way from the rear to second, waged a thrilling charge for the top spot. The two raced hard for the remaining laps, and Rosenbarger narrowly pulled off a career first win in front of his cheering fans. Taylor settled for second, as Mark Ball, Bret Truesler, and Wayne Korum completed the top five. Rosenbarger was also the heat race winner.

Sunday, Aug. 30, spotlights the Pure Stocks as they hold their first extra distance race, sponsored by Modified Auto Salvage, for an increased purse and lap money. The Late Models, Casey Valley Sport Shop & Marine E-Mod, and Stone House Restaurant Modified Stocks will also be on hand for their regular races. Gates open at 3 p.m., with racing scheduled to start at 5 p.m.

The following Sunday, Sept. 6, will feature regular four-division racing along with a demo derby sponsored by Bates Tire & Auto Salvage. The gates open at 12:30 and racing will begin at 2:00 p.m. The season's finale will be held on Sunday, Sept. 13. The Late Models will run 40 laps for $2,000 to win, and the E-Mod will race for $400 to win. They will be joined by the Pure Stocks and Modified Stocks and the early start time will be in effect. Gates open at 12:30, hot laps at 1:30, and racing begins at 2 p.m.

Elkins-Kerens Speedway

The Elkins Lions Club's annual "Race for Sight" was held at Elkins-Kerens Speedway with Nolan Dalton, Kevin Hamrick, Shawn Davis, Tom Simpson and Mike Simpson winning the trophies. Also as an added attraction were two Powder Puff races which were won by Melissa Vest and Sheila Cross.

Nolan Dalton passed pole-sitter Robbie Scott on lap 4 and led the final 21 laps for his first win of the year at Elkins. Cousin Gary also got by Robbie on lap 17 and finished second with Robbie third. Mike Hawkins fourth, and Chris Smith fifth. Kelly Cooper was out for the first time this year but couldn't start the feature after wrecking in his heat.

Jerry Haseleu looked like a sure winner in Semi-Lates until lap 19 when Kevin Hamrick passed him on the outside and went on to his third win of the season. Jerry ended up second followed by Ken Gould, Tim Seale, and Birch Hare Jr. Roy Gibson and Denny Sandy were back after early season woes caused by crashes. Darrell Whitehair was out for the first time ever.

Shawn Davis in UMP

Mode continued his winning ways with his seventh win of the season. This was Shawn's eighth trip to Elkins and he has won every race that he has finished. His only non-win was the result of a flat while leading. This week Steve Cook, back after a couple weeks layoff, was second with Brent Trimble third, points leader Dave Delfbaugh fourth, and Louis Krushansky fifth. Old timer Sam Lewis has purchased the at-Rick Wyatt #906 and was out for the second time.

Tom Simpson, who won Friday night, had a double this week with his third win of the year in 4 Cylinder. Points leader Jeff Pennington was second followed by William Robinson, Alan Teter, and David Bollinger. Teddy Workman from Gypsy was out for the first time this year.

Mike Simpson in Pure Stocks matched his brother's win with one of his own. This was Mike's second win of the year. Brett Rosenblum with his best finish of the year was second followed by Dave Riggs, Kevin Keene who won the last race, and Tom Harris.

The Powder Puff races were run with Pure Stock and 4 Cylinder cars. In Pure Stock, Melissa Vest, in the #15 of Ricky Vest, won over Joyce Moore in Tim Moore's #71, and Joan Keene in Kevin's #17K. While in 4 Cylinder, Sheila Cross in Tommy Pennington's #37 won over Brandy Carr in the 6B of David Bollinger, and Patty Simpson in the #3 of Bill Robinson. Performances Motors of Parsons gave trophies to the top three finishers in both classes.

The Late Model Feature winners were Nolan Dalton, Gary Dalton, Robbie Scott, Mike Hawkins, Chris Smith, Tom Pennington, Bill Paugh, David Wolf, Bill Weese, Chad McDougal, Chuck Harper, and Jeff Thomas, in that order. Kelly Cooper did not start (DNS). Heats went to Scott & Nolan Dalton.

The Semi-Late Feature winners were Kevin Hamrick, Jerry Haseleu, Ken Gould, Tim Seale, Birch Hare Jr., Dwayne Moreland, Roy Gibson, Deasy Swiger, John Parsons, Darrell Whitehair, Denny Sandy, and Scott Chenoweth. Heats went to Haseleu & Gould.

The UMP Mod Feature winners were Shawn Davis, Steve Cook, Brent Trimble, Dave Delfbaugh, Louis Krushansky, Vic Vandergrift, Ed Reed, Clifton Cochran, Delmas White-man, Rusty Ball, Ron Bartholow, Robbie Teter, Sam Lewis, Mike Lewis, and Ron Parrish. Jerry Teter DNS. Heats went to Davis & Cook.

NO-OIL BAKED FISH FILLET RECIPE

These days most of us are health conscious. We exercise and watch what we eat. Fish is one of the healthier foods available and can be delicious as well. So, for those of you who have been fortunate enough to hook up with some crappie, walleye, or perch, try this healthy recipe courtesy of the Lawry's Seasonings people.

Baked Fish Fillets in Bear Cream

Use crappie, walleye, perch, or any white-fleshed salt water fish.

- 2 pounds of fish fillets
- 1 12-ounce bottle Lawry's Mesquite Marinade with Lemon Juice
- 3/4 cup real mayonnaise
- 1-1/2 cups of sour cream
- 3/4 cup finely chopped onions
- Italian bread crumbs
- Lawry's Lemon Pepper
- Dash of paprika

Put the fillets in a bowl or resealable plastic bag with the marinade and refrigerate for two hours or so. Remove the fillets and pat the excess marinade from them with a paper towel and then roll them in bread crumbs. Arrange the fillets in a single layer in a lightly buttered baking dish and sprinkle liberally with lemon pepper. Combine sour cream, mayo, and onion and pour this over fish. Sprinkle with paprika and bake at 300 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until light and bubbly.

WILD TURKEY FEDERATION TO LAUNCH TV SHOW

Area turkey hunters will have something to look forward to for next winter. The NWTF announced that beginning in January of 1999, The Nashville Network and the NWTF will begin airing a new TV show called Turkey Call. According to Rob Keck, NWTF CEO and host of the show, "Turkey Call will be a fast-moving magazine format style program with the wild turkey as the star of the show." Turkey Call will air on Saturdays, 9 a.m., on TNN and will run for 26 consecutive weeks. The show will feature wild turkey hunting, NWTF conservation efforts, and a host of features centered around hunting this elusive game bird.

In the last 25 years, nearly $78 million NWTF and co-operator dollars have been spent on projects benefiting wild turkeys. In 1973, there were an estimated 1.3 million wild turkeys and 1.5 million turkey hunters. Today there are an estimated 4.2 million wild turkeys and approximately 2.5 million turkey hunters. The NWTF is a 180,000 member organization with members in 50 states and 11 foreign countries.

AP Students Earn College Credit Scores

Southern High School offered advanced placement (AP) courses for the first time during the past school year. Results from year-end testing indicated that 17 of the 22 students achieved scores in their AP courses that were high enough to earn them college credit at universities and colleges throughout the nation.

AP courses, which were offered in studio art (Sonia Pratt), physics (Dave Mayfield), calculus (Jim Zimmerman), English (Linda Garra), and American politics and government (Dave Bender) provided the opportunity for students to take college level courses at their high school. The end-of-course exams were administered by the high school guidance office and scored during the summer by College Board evaluators.

Students who take AP classes are exposed to the challenge of college work and have the chance to develop the study habits necessary for success at the college level. Taking AP courses in high school may enhance a student's chances to be accepted at a selected college, a guidance counselor at Southern High School explained. "Colleges and universities recognize that advanced placement students are self-starters, better prepared, and less likely to drop out than average college bound students," he said.

Over 1,400 colleges and universities accept qualifying AP scores as college credit. Successful AP students who receive a qualifying grade on their exams can save the high cost of college tuition to take the same courses.

AP success may also translate into an advantage in the competitive hunt for academic scholarship opportunities. "Advanced placement offerings are one important tool we are using to create an academically enhanced environment in our school," said Lynn Bell, Southern High School principal.

SEEING GOVERNMENT IN ACTION - Students from Dave Bender's advanced placement American Politics and Government class spent time with Maryland U. S. Senator Paul Sarbanes at the U.S. Capitol Building this past May. Students spent two days visiting the Capitol Building, plus the White House, the Supreme Court, and the Holocaust Museum, as well as catching a play at Arena Stage, and stopping by many of the monuments and museums on the Mall. Pictured in photo from left to right are: Sen. Sarbanes, Anna Snyder, Matthew Walther, Meredith Martin, Johnathan Price, Brian Brown, Heather Winebrenner, Andrew Harvey, Andl Bender, Kane Wengerd, Marshall Rodheaver, Milaty Sharples, chaperone Leo Martin and Frankie Martin, teacher Dave Bender, and A.J. Bender.

She explained some of the other reasons for offering the AP courses. "We want all students to have the opportunity to take as challenging a course as they wish to take here at Southern. We are very excited and proud of the commitment this first batch of AP students and teachers made as pioneers in our quest to create a culture of academic pride and competitiveness among all our students," Bell said.

The five AP courses will be offered again this year, and in addition there will be an advanced placement course in American history. Anyone interested in discussing the AP opportunity may call 301-334-1660 and ask for the guidance office.

Test Sessions In Boating Safety Concluding Soon

Although the summer boating season is winding down, the Boating Safety Equivalency Test will still be offered the next two Fridays, Aug. 28 and Sept. 4, at 9 a.m. at the McHenry Public Safety Building on Friendsville Road. The free testing sessions are administered by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Police (NRP), and will conclude for the season with the Sept. 4 session.

Maryland law specifies that anyone born after July 1, 1972, must successfully complete a boating safety course before operating any motorized vessel in the state of Maryland. This includes all motorized boats, jet skis, Wave Runners, and all other powered vessels and personal watercraft (PWC).

Those who pass the equivalency test will receive a Maryland Certificate of Boating Safety Education card. Anyone who fails the first time may retake the test one more time at a later date; however, anyone who fails a second time must take the Boating Safety Course to receive the card.

Persons interested in more information about this test may call the NRP office at 301-777-7771. For information about scheduled Maryland Boating Safety courses, contact Garrett Community College at 301-387-3070.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

What happened to the thermometers at the American Trust banks here in Oakland? It was nice to be able to see them as we drove downtown. Get something good started and, bingo, we don't have it any more. What happened?

Bill DeWitt

To the Editor:

Saturday, Sept. 12, is Defender's Day, celebrating the decisive and great battle of Baltimore in 1814.

The Flag House, at 844 E. Pratt St. in Baltimore, is having a tea from noon to 4 p.m., with two history actors portraying Mr. and Mrs. Francis Scott Key, describing their personal life and their children; also about the battle, especially at Fort McHenry. During that time, Key was detained aboard a ship nearby on Sept. 13 and 14. It was not known until the early hours of the 14th when Key was able to see that "our flag was still there." This event inspired him to pen the immortal words of "The Star Spangled Banner," which was declared our national anthem in 1931, mainly through the efforts of Maryland's congressmen.

This huge flag of 15 stars and 15 stripes was made by Mrs. Mary Pickersgill at her residence in Baltimore, now known as The Flag House.

A three-day program, starting on Friday, Sept. 11, will be held at the National Mall in Washington, D.C., focusing on the British occupation and burning of Washington. On Saturday and Sunday, Fort McHenry will present military encampments and demonstrations. On Saturday at 6 p.m., the U.S. Army Field Band will be in concert, and there will be a narrated program detailing the bombardment at the fort. The evening will end with fireworks.

We are indeed proud of Maryland's involvement in this war, saving not only Baltimore and Maryland, but the entire United States from the British. Let us keep this important event forever green in our memory.

To the Editor:

I am a patriot. I love this country and I love and respect the flag of the United States. I display it daily outside my house and I still feel chills up my spine when I hear or sing "The Star Spangled Banner." I served my country as a naval aviator in WW2 and Korea.

My patriotism was challenged as a result of a letter to the editor dated 2 July 1998 wherein I decried the National American Legion for the relentless pursuit of an amendment to the Constitution for the protection of our flag. And when my patriotism is challenged, I get mad and very upset.

This consistent pursuit has been a political football of every national commander since 1984 when a person at the Republican National Convention burned an American flag. I wrote to National Headquarters and suggested they get off this issue and turn their attention and resources to the principles of the American Legion, such as protecting the widows and orphans of our veterans, teaching Americanism to the young men and women, and education in the way of scholarships and grants to higher education facilities.

The flag amendment has been ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court because it is contrary to the First Amendment, which gives us free speech, regardless how disgusting and repulsive to us it may be. Many states have passed laws that protect the flag from any act of desecration. Since that time I have not read about or heard of any illegal act against the flag.

My opposition was not in any way intended to suggest the flag should not be protected, but I oppose the American Legion's position of promoting the 27th Amendment to our Constitution. It just ain't gonna fly, boys.

To the Editor:

I hear every politician say the same thing. We need good jobs and more development. When will the time come when thinkers and politicians begin to re-evaluate and seek revision in the fundamental ways society works? It is sad that those in media, government, and corporations try so hard to divorce us from our connection to the earth. Now they even use advertising with pretty pictures of nature to have us think that somehow the detergent is good for the environment.

Television is perhaps the most insidious way the corporation ensures its immortality by indoctrinating us from a young age that "things" are what make us happy. Can you blame them? Of course not; they are never held accountable for their actions, they are

BE ALERT FOR MISLEADING SOCIAL SECURITY ADS

by Tom Armbruster,

Social Security Manager in Casabland, Md.

Social Security is issuing a general alert to area residents about misleading ads that purport to sell Social Security information. You will find that the same information is free from the Social Security office, and it will be accurate.

The elderly are often targeted by the misleading ads. But the ads also target new brides, new parents, and people of all ages. Typical scams are those that use "official" letterhead stationery offering to provide a replacement for a lost or stolen Social Security card, have a name changed on a Social Security record, or get a Social Security number for a child for a fee. These services not only are free from Social Security, but they generally can be obtained just as easily as they can from the advertiser.

Individuals or groups who purposefully mislead the public about Social Security or Medicare services are subject to strong penalties under current legislation. The law makes such misrepresentations more difficult to carry out and increases fines that can be imposed.

The Social Security Administration responds to consumer complaints and inquiries from Congress about mail received by members of the public that appears to be misleading advertising. If it finds that such mailings violate the law, the senders may face prosecution by the Inspector General's Office.

The law considers each piece of mail an individual violation. It states that the use of a disclaimer does not excuse such acts, removes a previous penalty cap amount of $100,000 annually, and requires written authorization from the government for printing and distributing any Social Security material for a fee.

If you believe you have received this or any type of misleading information, you may report it to: Social Security Administration, Office of Communications, Misleading Advertising, P.O. Box 17740, Baltimore, MD 21235.

You can also take the material to your local postmaster or send it to: Chief Postal Inspector, United States Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, SW, Washington, DC 20260-2100.

You should also advise your state's attorney general or Consumer Affairs Office and the Better Business Bureau in your area that you have received this offer and who sent it.

FOR SHERIFF OF GARRETT COUNTY

I support Chester Sines for Sheriff of Garrett County. I have known Chester from a boy up, and I have never heard of anything bad about him.

I know of him to be a very honest man. He is a family man and a Christian. So I would ask your support for him on Election Day.

Arthur Rame

There is no doubt that we live in a country that was founded and established upon Christian principles. Though America has swayed from its scriptural base, those who seek to serve this great land must be qualified both practically and spiritually.

The sheriff of Garrett county must not only be prepared practically, that is have the knowledge and training to deal with crime in today's society, but must also be prepared spiritually. Must be able to speak with moral authority and conviction. Must have the character not only to enforce the law in the community, but to uphold it in personal conduct and attitude.

I believe Chester Sines to be such a man. He has proven his law enforcement abilities with his previous experience and has displayed Christian character in his home and life.

I believe Chester Sines to be a humble, honest, God fearing man who was raised on a small farm, conviction and confidence.

ISSUE AND POINT 4) CHARACTER

Of all the issues I have talked about, this is the most important. Character is not something one can tell about himself. It is who a person is, what others perceive or describe an individual to be. Honesty, Integrity and Values are all attributes earned by someone over their lifetime. Character goes hand in hand with Experience, Education and Training.

To
Garrett County Residents,

Please accept my recommendation of Chester Sines as Sheriff of Garrett County, Maryland. Chester Sines has been a friend of mine for over thirty years, and it is with great pleasure that I recommend him for the Sheriff position in your county.

I first met Chester Sines in 1967 under the harshest conditions on the Demilitarized Zone ("DMZ") in Vietnam. We were both serving in the Army in a special weapons artillery unit. Chester Sines' leadership ability was easily recognized even then and he was swiftly promoted to Staff Sergeant E6. As Staff Sergeant, Chester Sines was in charge of a complete military combat-ready artillery section. Under Chester Sines' guidance and direction from 1967 to 1968, myself and the others of the Army and Marine Units, that he personally lead will attest to his American's crusade. Chester Sines was awarded the Bronze Star with "V" for Valor, Purple Heart, Army and Marine Presidential Unit Citation, Valorous Unit Citation, Meritorious Unit Commendation, Vietnam Gallantry Cross with Palm and the Vietnam Civil Action Honor. First Class Chester Sines was one of the reasons that his Army Unit was one of the highest decorated Army Combat Units in Vietnam.

I can unequivocally attest to Chester Sines' endurance, integrity, and ability. I am certain that when you elect Chester Sines as Sheriff of Garrett County, you will be impressed. Chester Sines communicates well with both community and county. Chester Sines has been active in community affairs for many years. All who know him have the highest regard for him.

It is my distinct pleasure to recommend Chester Sines to you, your community and county as the next Sheriff of Garrett County, Maryland.

Yours in Patriotism,

To the Citizens of Garrett County,

I have known Chester Sines since childhood days as we were raised in the same community. Having known his father and mother, I know that he was taught what was right and what was wrong. I also know that he has practiced that during his entire life by treating other people as he would like to be treated without showing respect of persons. He is an honest, Christian man who has worked with his hands to earn his way in life and to support his wife and family. I support and endorse Chester as a candidate for Garrett County Sheriff and I encourage the voters of Garrett County to do likewise.

Sincerely,

John Ross Sines

never put to death for killing people. Our society has made the profit motive not only holier than thou, but also legally required it to be the goal and the driving motive behind all their actions.

When a person watches TV, studies have shown that an alpha brain wave state is produced. This is caused by the size of the screen, and its rapidly moving imagery. This alpha state allows images and information to log deep within our subconscious, without any real processing of its content. 75% of all advertising is done by only 100 corporations that also have control over its content. The profit motives of the program makers must be satisfied, and they must produce material that is agreeable to advertisers. TV is hardly a media for the people by the people. When was the last time you watched a program about people living simply and in harmony with the earth?

When television is put in the homes of native peoples living natural ways, it has been proven that they very quickly lose interest in ancient survival skills, they no longer make time to story tell, alcohol, drug use, and domestic violence increases, and they long to be like Americans. Obviously

by Thomas W. Armbruster

Medicare has added several new benefits designed to encourage the early detection of certain life-threatening diseases common among elderly people. They include yearly mammograms, pap smears, colorectal cancer screening, and free flu and pneumonia shots.

As of January 1, 1998, women are able to get yearly mammograms and pap smears, including pelvic and breast examinations, without paying the Part B deductible. Also since January 1, colorectal cancer screening became available. In addition, Medicare will pay the full charge of flu and pneumococcal shots.

As of July 1, Medicare has been providing diabetes glucose monitoring and diabetes education to beneficiaries. Bone mass measurement has also been available since July 1.

Interested Medicare beneficiaries should call their doctor or health care provider for more information on the availability of the new benefits. Also, a Medicare hotline is available: 1-800-638-6833.

Medicare covers Social Security beneficiaries age 65 or older or who have been receiving Social Security disability benefits for two years or more.

the world can barely support a country full of Americans; how can it ever support the rest wanting to live like us? 75% of the world's homes have TV, and they are not watching The Nature of Things, they are watching Baywatch, the number one program in the world. Commercial advertising and programs depict the way corporations want us to live. Buy, Buy, Buy.

Many messengers have been given instructions by God and sent to many peoples on many lands. A study of these various religions, such as Christianity, Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism, Muslim, and Native American Spirituality, reveals that there are universal truths about the way we are supposed to live. In all faiths, taking more than you need, being angry, and living for material wealth is about as far from the Creator as you can get.

All prophecies lead us to the conclusion that, when the earth is polluted bad enough, and violence gets severe, the system of things will end. We are all very vulnerable to the world's infrastructure we have created. This system of trucks, water supply, power, and everything we rely on is as delicate as the natural world's web of life. Often times a spider's web will disintegrate if the right strand is broken. This NEW unbalanced earth man is creating via climate change and the destruction of nature's ecosystems could snowball quickly, and it could get quite nasty indeed. We get what we deserve.

Perhaps we can all have the courage to seek a more small-scale and self-sufficient way that is in balance with the earth. We have concern for the kind of Earth we are leaving behind for the future generations of children and not make excuses. A polluted wasteland of technological materialism does not seem to be a Kingdom of God on earth. Have Christian ethics failed the test in this regard?

Can we change ourselves, and learn the skills necessary to live in healthy communities? Can we have respect for all living things and have a strong desire to protect God-given and pure natural resources for the future generations? A community that seeks to grow and develop spiritually rather than materially would be something new and different. A community that truly cares about its children and the kind of world and life-style it leaves

What Will DOUG RAILEY Do As Your Garrett County Commissioner?

Economic Growth

As commissioner, I will implement a "community based" economic recovery plan that will attract employers to Garrett County without sacrificing our natural beauty or quality of life. I will utilize an "Economic Advisory Committee" consisting of prominent business leaders, civic leaders, educators and elected officials in order to develop a workable plan to bring about the economic recovery of Garrett County. The emphasis of this plan will be to create decent paying jobs that provide health and retirement benefits.

Responsible Government

As commissioner, I will make certain that all functions of county government operate openly and honestly under a strict code of ethical conduct. County services will be delivered efficiently and effectively at a reasonable cost to the taxpayer. Internal problems causing friction between county departments and the Commissioners' Office will be addressed and resolved in a responsible manner.

Education

As commissioner, I will work to see that our school system is properly funded and that the quality of education it offers is worth the money spent. As a supporter of the public school system, I would also make certain that the school system plays an integral part in helping to develop the economic recovery plan for the county. The burden of training the employees of tomorrow will lie largely with the school system; therefore, they will need the support of parents as well as the community.

County Roads

As commissioner, I will sit down with the County Roads Department and address the problems that currently exist between the Roads Department and the Commissioners' Office. These problems could be addressed responsibly and swiftly in a cooperative manner. This would allow the Roads Department to get back to the business of maintaining our county roads and other county infrastructure. I would employ competent department heads and allow them the freedom to do their jobs.

BLADE

Rated R - Running time: 2:00

If one didn't know it was based on a comic strip, Blade would be up there with the most terrible action movies ever made. But it doesn't expect to be taken seriously; it's a melodrama. The problem is, a few of the actors didn't realize that, like Stephen Dorff and Kris Kristofferson. Wesley Snipes did. But it's too bad director Stephen Norrington didn't enlighten the others.

Blade (Snipes) is sort of like Batman. He's a superhero, with a black cape (well, a leather dress coat) who fights against vampires with cool toys like solid silver stakes he shoots out of a modified rocket launcher. He's part vampire, too, because his mother was bitten by one while she was carrying him, so he is endowed with the superhuman strength all the vamps enjoy. To satisfy his thirst for blood without becoming the thing he hates, he gets regular injections of a special serum formulated by his best friend, Abraham Whistler (Kristofferson), who also makes all the cool hardware. But Blade is developing a tolerance for the stuff, and his dosage is reaching a dangerous level. He must either kick the habit (and lose all his power) or figure out another way to hunt Deacon Frost (Dorff), the evil guy who gave him mom the two permanent valves in her jugular.

Frost is not respected by the elite panel of vampires headed by Dragonetti (Udo Kier), because he is not "full-blooded." That is to say, he was not born a vampire - he was bitten. In the vampire world, those types are the equivalent of white trash. Really white. But Frost is planning a little show that will end all the prejudice against half-breeds like himself. With the aid of Blade's special blood he will summon the unnamed god of evil who will come down (or maybe up) and terrorize all those pompous bloodsuckers. And all vamps will be equal. And Frost will be king. Or something like that. But first he has to catch Blade.

During a routine vampicidal spree, Blade meets up with a woman who was bitten but hasn't turned yet. And she didn't die. How inconvenient. Her name is Karen (N'Bushe Wright), and he brings her back to his and Whistler's pad, not knowing what else to do. But she turns out to be a hematologist, so she might be of some help with his little blood problem. That is, if she doesn't grow pointy teeth first.

So, to sum up: Blade is hunting Frost. Frost is hunting Blade. Blade is in need of a better serum. Karen can help him, but she might turn into a vampire first, in which case he would have to kill her. But she's very attractive, so he would really rather marry her and make little half-vampires.

This movie is quite bloody, but the blood is not treated as a life fluid so much as a tasty drink. In fact, the artificial blood used in production looks very tasty, like raspberry jelly or something. The acting is overblown, the special effects are impressive, and the violence is loud and often. Just like in a comic strip. Is it worth the admission price? Welllllll . . . ★★½

Interstate 79

Speedway

Race fans at Interstate 79 Speedway got their $5 worth of racing on Friday evening during the Fan Appreciation Night with racing sponsored by the Clarkburg Exponent-Telegram. Drivers were going for the "ever popular points" with only the Season Championship races left next week.

Semi-Late drivers were the first to take the track with Rick Strickler holding a slim margin in the points over Jerry Haseleu. Haseleu fell far short of his goal as he had motor problems early in the evening. Strickler went on to win the feature event, padding his lead toward the championship. Tim Seale was second followed by Duane Moreland, Scott Chenoweth, and Kevin Wolfe. Heat race wins went to Senic, Moreland, and Jon Messenger.

The 20-car Late Model starting field came to the green paced by Butch McGill and Chuck Harper. The two veterans battled early with McGill taking the lead. Harper ran too close the edge and lost several positions, but within just a few laps, Harper was again on McGill's tail. Harper took to the high side again and made the pass going on to nab his first win of the year at 1-79. McGill held on for second with Nolan Dalton, Doug Horton, and Robbie Scott in a tight battle for the top five. Six through 10 were Paul Wilmoth, Frank Wilson, Mike Hawkins, Chris Smith, and Tim Harsh. Heat wins were taken by McGill, Harper, and Scott.

Twenty-one UMP Modifieds started the feature with several cautions in the early going. Shawn Davis brought out a red flag when his car burst into flames before mid-race. Davis had held a slim 70-point lead over Cliff Cochran before the race. As Davis' night ended, Cochran took advantage of that misfortune and went on to win his second feature of the year and step to the top of the points. Brent Trimble ran a close second followed by Dave Deffbaugh, Jason Ammons, and Sam Henderson. Cochran, Bob Bennett, and Trimble won the prelims.

Mike Simpson picked up his fourth win of the season and padded his points lead over Dave Summers, who also finished second in the 4 Cylinder feature. Third through fifth went to William Robinson, Shawn Phillips, and Bernie Wilson. Simpson and Summers won the ucs.

Gerald Brown made his first visit to 1-79 and took home the Pure Stock feature win. Gary Yost, Jeff Keeling, Paul Watson, and Michael Tenney rounded out the top five. Doug Thompson had a scary moment when he barrel-rolled several times over turn three. He was not injured. Watson, David Tonkery, and Chuck Bloom were winners of the earlier heat races.

This Friday, Aug. 28, will be Season Championship races in all divisions. Coming Friday and Saturday, Sept. 4 and 5, will be the big Labor Day weekend races at Interstate 79 Speedway. The Steel Block Late Models, UMP Modifieds, and Street Stocks will be running prelims on Friday. Gates will open at 5:30 with racing at 8:00.

THE STARS Late Model drivers will vie for the $8,000 winner's share of the 4th Annual Mark Balzano Memorial. Time trials, heats, and the 50-lap main event will be run on Saturday with gates opening at 4:00 and time trials at 7:00.

A Message from the Employees of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Garrett County Detention Center

We, the employees of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Garrett County Detention Center, endorse P.R. "Dick" Sanders for the office of Sheriff of Garrett County.

As we have all worked closely with Sheriff Sanders in the past, we can attest to his ability to lead this department with honesty and integrity into the future. During the period of time that he has served as sheriff, he has made many improvements for the employees and citizens alike.

His opponents have called for the restoration of respect to this department. Obviously, they do not realize that Sheriff Sanders has restored the respect to this office, and he has the confidence and trust of us all and many of our citizens. It is our belief that any other such leadership at this time would be detrimental to this office and the services we provide to our citizens. We fully support Sheriff Sanders and we urge all citizens to exercise their right to vote.

Vehicle Donor Program Slated By ARC Chapter

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross has launched a vehicle donor program to raise additional funds for the chapter's activities and programs. ARC vehicle donor programs have proved very successful in other Maryland counties and across the United States, according to a spokesperson for the Western Potomac ARC Chapter.

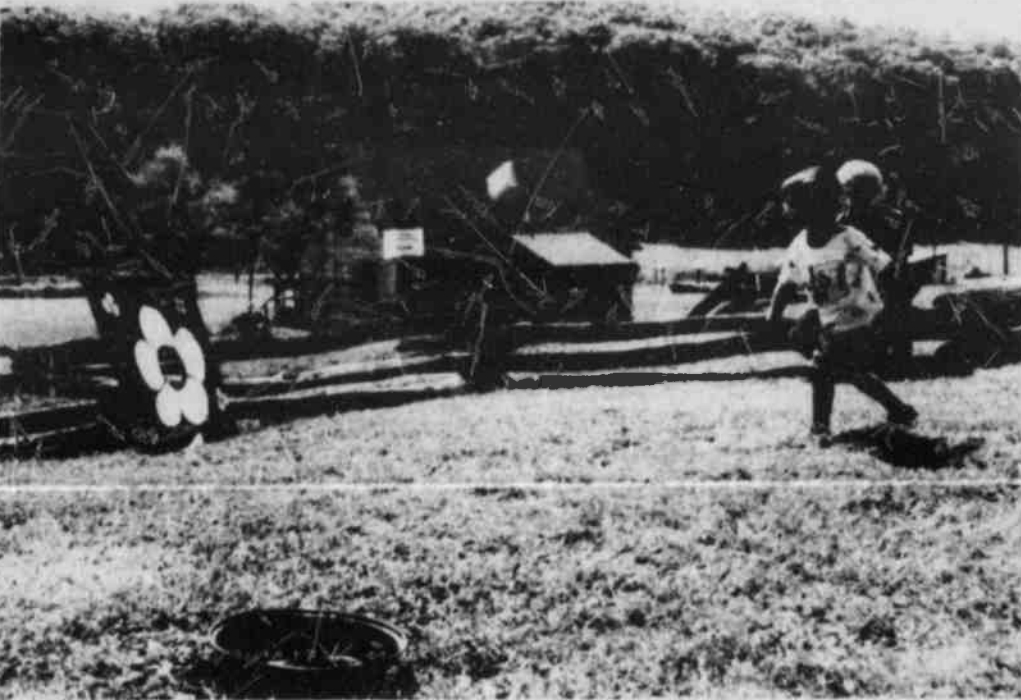

Cars, trucks, boats, RVs and tractors will be accepted, and local auto dealers, and recycling and salvage dealers have formed partnerships with the Red Cross to assist in this project. Vehicle donors will receive a receipt for the blue book value of the vehicle. Free vehicle removal is available if the vehicle is not in running condition. Vehicles in good condition will be sold and the proceeds will be used to fund the agency's life-saving and family-enriching programs.

Persons interested in donating a vehicle may contact Charlie Johnson of the Western Potomac ARC Chapter at 301-722-1760 or 1-800-361-9481, ext. 302, for additional information.

VISITING THE PAST - Visitors to Beltachhof Farm in Grantsville last weekend had the chance to step back in time to experience 19th century life in the Appalachian Mountains. Farming demonstrations, pony and carriage rides, music, dancing, and games were all on the agenda for the first celebration of Puzsly Run Folk Days. Some of the activities and sights are pictured here. In the photo above left was a longhunter with a musket taking aim at his target. The encampment of Willa Mountain Renegades gave visitors insight into daily life at a campsite. In the photo above center, festival visitors were ferried to the altar in a fringed sarray that served as a shuttle. There were animals to see, touch, and feed. In the photo above right, a little boy is seen as he stopped to pet the baby black goat outside her pen. Children's games included a bean bag toss, a penny pitch, a ring toss, pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey, and Jacob's ladders and bubble wands. In the center below is a photo of young man making a strong over-hand toss of the bean bag. John Lozier played traditional songs on his harp, and in the photo below on the right, one little girl is pictured as she got some hands-on experience with sounds of the homemade instrument.

Organization Grant Applicants Sought By MSAC

The Maryland State Arts Council (MSAC) is currently seeking applicants for its fiscal year 2000 Grants for Organizations program. The program is designed both for arts organizations which produce and present the arts through public programs and services, as well as for non-arts organizations whose primary purpose is other than producing or presenting arts activities.

The Arts Organization Grant Program offers general operating funding for arts organizations whose programming is recognized to have a substantial impact on their communities and have a solid record of offering quality programs and service annually.

Grants are available in the following categories: arts services, children's events, dance, folk arts/heritage, literature, media, multi-discipline, music, theater, and visual arts. Organizations may apply for a grant in only one category. The category in which an organization applies must be the category that most closely characterizes the organization's predominant activities.

Arts organizations requesting general operating grant funding also may apply for New Initiative grants. These grants are designed to expand the community of Maryland residents who participate in the arts as artists and audiences, and to reach out to Maryland artists and/or audiences who lack the opportunity to participate fully in the arts. New Initiative grants could be directed toward, but not limited to, minority artists and/or audiences, individuals with disabilities, and rural artists and/or audiences. New initiative grant applicants must demonstrate that the community addressed by the proposal is included in the planning and implementation of the project.

Grants to non-arts organizations are available to not-for-profit organizations whose primary purpose is other than producing or presenting arts activities. Organizations such as schools, churches, libraries, and community centers can obtain funding for a wide variety of arts activities through the Arts Program and Arts Project grants program.

Arts Program grants are designed for ongoing arts activities produced or presented for general audiences, and are available in the following categories: arts services, children's events, dance, folk arts heritage, literature, media, multi-discipline, music, theater, and visual arts. Organizations may apply for a grant in only one category. The category in which an organization applies must be the category that most closely characterizes the organization's ongoing arts activities.

Arts Project grants are special arts activities produced or presented for general audiences that are not necessarily part of an organization's ongoing activities. Arts Project grants are awarded in the following categories: arts services, children's events, dance, folk arts heritage, literature, media, multi-discipline, music, theater, and visual arts. Organizations may apply for a grant in only one category which must be closely related to the special arts activities described in the application.

MSAC grants are open to organizations that have been incorporated in Maryland as tax exempt and not-for-profit before March 31 of this year, operate primarily in Maryland, and have been in operation during the previous fiscal year. New applicants are encouraged to contact the Maryland State Arts Council in order to speak with the appropriate staff member before an application is submitted in order to ensure that they are applying for the appropriate grant and category.

Completed applications must be postmarked on or before October 30, 1998, or hand delivered to the Maryland State Arts Council offices at 601 North Howard Street, Baltimore, by 5 p.m. that day. For application loans and additional information, interested persons may contact the

Child Protective Services: Dealing With The Horrors

Editor's note: This article is the third in a series examining Garrett County's response to family abuse and violence. Previous segments dealt with male batterers and abuse of the elderly.

In the catalog of human transgressions few strike as revolting as the brutal treatment of children. Whether it is the terror of a child subjected to physical blows, sexual violations, or emotional devastation, most of us need to avert our eyes or thoughts in horror.

There are those whose daily work requires the ability to look such pain and brutality in the face. These are the men and women of the office of Child Protective Services in the Garrett County Department of Social Services.

The function of DSS is often misunderstood. It is a myth that social workers are waiting in the wings to swoop down and take away the children of any parent who spans a child who has run into the street. It is a myth that social workers want to take children away from their homes and place them in foster care. Child protection workers have quite different goals and methods than these. Less than 10 or 15 percent of cases investigated by DSS result in foster placement, explained Larry Bruch, director of child protective services.

On the "flip side" of those proclaiming that social workers are too meddling are those who would criticize DSS workers for not taking enough initiative when a child is at risk. Many of these criticisms are leveled when a case of mistreatment of a child comes to public attention. Then GLAF DIRECTORS GREET EUGENE M. LANG — Directors of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) were pleased to greet Eugene M. Lang and his wife at one of the recent symphony at Deep Creek concerts. Lang has helped GLAF over the past several years by sponsoring the Mountain Lakes Young Writers' Workshop, a week-long camp for local writers ages 12 to 17. The camp has produced fine writing, with some youngsters earning national recognition for their output. Lang's daughter, Jene Lang, and her husband, Paul Sprenger, owners of the Treder's Landing complex at Deep Creek Lake, also sponsor the Mountain Lakes Young Artists' Workshop, which is the same sort of camp for young visual artists in Garrett County. Eugene Lang is known nationally as the founder of "I Have a Dream" program (IHAD), which encourages youngsters to stay in school by offering them tuition support for higher education endeavors. The program has grown since its inception in 1981, with over 160 IHAD projects in 35 states now active, serving more than 18,000 children each year. The Langs were welcomed to the county by the GLAF members at last week's concert. Pictured left to right are directors John Wilson and Marcene Huebner (GLAF president), Mr. and Mrs. Lang, directors Charity Jensen, Nancy Laerey, and Dan Muan, and Fred Stemple, executive director.

the cries will be heard of "Where were the social workers?" The answer is sometimes very simple: They can only investigate cases they are aware of.

"I guess you could call it a Catch 22 we face. Many people think we are too intrusive, others think we are not intrusive enough," stated social worker Erica Mowbray, commenting on the public's response to DSS case workers. It is in fact the double bind of "damned if they do and damned if they don't" under which protective services operates.

The actual work of the unit is prescribed by law. Social workers with Child Protective Services investigate reports of physical abuse, sexual abuse, and neglect. Cases must be sufficiently serious to merit investigation, and must meet state guidelines, Bruch explained.

Many of the calls that are answered in the service unit at DSS will not reach the level of investigation. "Some calls are screened out immediately because they are not sufficiently serious," Bruch said.

Screening the calls can be a very delicate matter. The child protection workers walk a tightrope of sorts because the issues they address are at once highly personal and potentially deadly.

Dealing with suspected child abuse is sensitive work. To get the necessary information to proceed with an investigation, intrusive questions must be asked.

Before the case workers begin asking those questions, they need to be as sure as they can be that the complaint is valid. "When we get a referral from a teacher or a school counselor, we can be pretty sure its accurate," noted Mowbray.

Though wanting to be fairly certain of validity, the goal is to minimize and prevent danger to a child. "Sometimes you need to err on the side of caution, particularly when it is a very young child that is involved," Bruch stated.

Bruch also said that the protective service workers ask for evidence of an injury and, when possible, information from an eyewitness. But he conceded that there are instances when physical evidence just is not visible. "Most cases of sexual abuse involve fondling. There will be no marks on the child's body," Bruch said.

Mowbray and Bruch discussed the difficulty in assessing sexual abuse without proper internal examinations and in the absence of very specific medical training. They described one such case that became apparent because a 3-year-old child had a venereal disease that should not have been present. Discovery of this led to the discovery of the mother's boyfriend having sexual intercourse with the child.

All investigations of child sexual abuse are conducted with the assistance of a law enforcement officer. This kind of cooperative effort, coupled with ongoing dialogue between agencies, is essential in resolving violence cases within the family.

In Garrett County agencies are combining forces to find the most appropriate and beneficial tools for responding to, intervening in, and remedying child abuse cases. In the spring a team of nine county social workers, law enforcement officers, and representatives of the judicial system attended an out-of-state training on interagency cooperation in dealing with child abuse.

Though child abuse is considered by many to be a less serious problem in Garrett County than elsewhere, there is little doubt that the problem exists here. Among the cases that Bruch and Mowbray have responded to this year were a skull fracture, incest, child pornography, and a choking.

The grisly details and facts of cases handled through protective services often do not reach the public because of confidentiality. If there is an arrest and the case is prosecuted, then it may be reported to the public. But there are cases in which prosecution is not the course prescribed.

There may be other means of resolving the issue and removing the danger. "Sometimes an ex parte order is used. There are many different tools that can be used," said Mowbray.

Though not often publicized, we should make no mistake about it — there are crimes committed against children in Garrett County. The social workers of child protective services respond daily to the calls and sort through the information to identify and stop cases of child abuse. Public awareness and willingness to become involved can help to reduce the incidents of inhumane treatment of children.

To report suspected child abuse, persons may call 301-334-5405. After 4 p.m. or in an emergency situation, persons may call 911.

Wheels-To-Work Program To Be Combined Effort

Several Garrett County agencies have joined forces to create the local Wheels-To-Work program as part of the effort to get people off the welfare rolls and back to work. Garrett County's Department of Social Services, Community Action Committee Inc., and the Office for Children, Youth, and Families will collaborate to provide affordable vehicles to those leaving welfare and entering employment.

With reliable transportation to and from the work place and daycare being essential for anyone in the job market, the premise of the Wheels to Work program is that access to a vehicle is prerequisite to employment in rural areas such as Garrett County.

Wheels to Work will allow qualified persons to purchase state, local, and federal surplus or privately donated vehicles. A fair market value will be set for each vehicle and applicants screened prior to purchase.

The project, which will be implemented and administered by Community Action, is an initiative of the Garrett Welfare To Work Partnership explained Loring Young, director of the transportation department of Community Action. "The vehicles will be reconditioned at a local auto repair shop, inspected, and made available for qualified clients to purchase," he said.

Eligibility for participation in this vehicle purchase program will be determined by DSS. Through the Garrett Works program provided by DSS to help get people from public assistance rolls back into the work place, participants will be screened to determine need and readiness for a vehicle.

The Wheels to Work project will also provide "wraparound" services to clients who purchase vehicles. The member agency representatives recognized the need for continued support for those transitioning to the workplace. "The program has built-in monitoring of the client's progress and of the condition and maintenance of the vehicle,"

Young explained.

There are benefits to the community beyond reduction of the tax dollars spent on public assistance. "The welfare recipient becomes a taxpayer through payroll, fuel, sales, and other consumer taxes associated with the operation of a vehicle," Young said. When a person re-enters the workforce from the welfare rolls, the money and the mobility to go shopping are increased, he added.

An advisory board has been selected for the local Wheels to Work Program. It includes representatives from the law enforcement, financial, insurance, and business communities. This group will develop outlines and goals for the program and monitor its success.

"One of the goals of the program is to place vehicles with 12 qualified Garrett County residents within the first year. Gaining access to repairable surplus vehicles is proving to be more of a challenge than anticipated; however, we think this hurdle can be overcome and the goals will be achieved," Young concluded.

Members of the public who wish to make a tax deductible donation of a repairable vehicle to the program are encouraged to contact Barbara Collins at the transportation department of Community Action at 301-334-9431, ext. 109.

WHY WE SUPPORT BOB WATSON

AND WHY
HELP!

We are endorsing Bob Watson for three important reasons: He is HONEST. He is COMPETENT. He is FAIR.

His HONESTY is known to us. You need only observe Bob with his family to know the quality of his character. He is civic minded and cares about the good of the community. His selfless free work, on the Lake Commission where he fought the state and opposed preferential treatment for a special tax and his exposure, as a private citizen, of wrong-doing in county government are more than enough to convince us.

Nothing could better witness his COMPETENCE than his reputation as an attorney. Win or lose, those who have been in cases with Bob, attorneys and parties alike, will tell you that he was well prepared and knew what he was doing. His experience is by far the widest of those running and includes all areas of the law not one narrow field. And his knowledge is current.

He prides himself on FAIRNESS and a commitment to the law. It is the main reason he has such broad support. Bob is a man who applies reason to the problems before him and who follows what reason tells him is correct. Some of the members of our committee share his conservative views; others so not. But all of us believe he will be a fair judge in whose court all will stand equal before the law.

This election is not yet over. We need your help to win it. Bob needs your endorsement. Our committee needs your help and if possible, your contribution, no matter how small. We need you to distribute signs (available at Bob's office); to talk to your friends; to make phone calls and to knock on doors. This chance will never come again. Most of us will never see another contested judicial election. The election is near. So, please chip in and give us a hand.

State Unveils Vehicle Theft Prevention Plan

As professional car strippers demonstrated how a complete automobile can be dismantled into parts in a matter of minutes, Lt. Governor Kathleen Kennedy Townsend on Monday announced a new nighttime vehicle theft prevention program aimed at further reducing the number of stolen cars in Maryland.

Funded by Maryland's Vehicle Theft Prevention Council through a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, the statewide Watch Your Car program enables motorists who do not normally drive between 1 and 5 a.m. to register their vehicles with the Maryland State Police or participating local departments and affix identifying decals to their windshields. By doing so, the vehicle owners give police permission to stop their vehicles during those early morning hours. Police will verify that the person operating the vehicle is the owner or has permission from the owner.

"Car theft is a crime of opportunity," Townsend said. "If we eliminate the opportunity, we can eliminate the crime."

Colonel David B. Mitchell, superintendent of the Maryland State Police and chairman of the Vehicle Theft Prevention Council, said motor vehicle theft not only creates a significant loss for each victim, but it impacts other crimes.

"Watch Your Car is a police partnership with our citizens that will give us a greater ability to identify stolen vehicles before they are stripped for parts, and apprehend criminals before they use the stolen vehicles to commit other crimes," Mitchell said.

New Booklet To Outline Tornado Protection Plans

Director James Lee Witt of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) recently unveiled a major initiative on in-residence tornado shelters, or "safe rooms." Witt made the announcement at a National Tornado Forum convened in Washington by the agency to identify measures to increase protection from the hazards of tornadoes.

"Having a shelter, or safe room, built into a home can help protect people and families from injury or death caused by the dangerous force of extreme winds," Witt said. "When constructed according to the plans, the safe room can provide protection against winds of up to 250 miles per hour and projectiles traveling at 100 miles an hour."

Design specifications for a safe room are included with the 25-page illustrated FEMA publication Taking Shelter from the Storm: Building a Safe Room Inside Your House, a joint project with the Wind Engineering Research Center of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas.

Taking Shelter from the Storm draws on 25 years of field research by researchers at Texas Tech's Wind Engineering Research Center, including studies of the performance of buildings following dozens of tornadoes throughout the United States and laboratory testing on the performance of building materials and systems when impacted by airborne debris.

Taking Shelter from the Storm will help homeowners decide how best to protect themselves and their families. The section on understanding the hazards defines and illustrates the categories of damage caused by tornadoes and hurricanes, and provides a risk assessment worksheet for the homeowner using wind zone charts and maps. It also details emergency planning and assembling an emergency supply kit. The planning section outlines the basis of shelter design including size, retrofitting in existing houses, foundation types, and location within the house. In addition, construction plans, materials, and construction cost estimates are detailed for a variety of situations.

The safe room project is part of an ongoing FEMA initiative to encourage people to take measures to protect themselves and their property before disasters occur. With the dramatic increase in the number of deadly tornadoes this year, FEMA has accelerated the development of effective strategies that federal agencies, states, communities, and individuals can pursue to protect people and reduce damages from these severe storms.

The in-home safe room project was initiated following numerous requests by state and local emergency management officials and by persons whose homes were either destroyed or significantly damaged by tornadoes and hurricanes for guidance on how to incorporate a safe room into the reconstruction of storm-damaged homes.

Whether an individual family should consider building a safe room in their house depends on a number of factors, including: location in high-risk area, how quickly safe shelter can be reached during extreme winds; level of safety desired; and the cost of building a shelter, Witt said.

Taking Shelter from the Storm: Building a Safe Room Inside Your House, FEMA Publication 320 (booklet and construction plans), will be available through FEMA Publications (1-800-480-2520) in October 1998.

How unusual...no picnic tables, no fried chicken, no chocolate pies...why, not even an ice cream freezer churning away...what kind of family reunion is this? Where are all the people?

It's a different kind of family reunion. At this reunion, all of God's children meet in His house to rejoice in their "kinship" as belonging to the Heavenly Father. They joyfully recall all of the things He has done for them and continues to do. They speak of the Father's wisdom and recount all of the love He has shared. God's children sing joyful songs as they remember the roads He has walked with them so as to give them peace. What a wonderful reunion!

You are invited to attend the next weekly reunion of God's children at your local House of worship. You will want to be one of us. We welcome you.

Homecoming Joins Past And Present In Kitzmiller Fest

The 10th annual Kitzmiller Homecoming weekend was held recently, coinciding with the 75th anniversary reunion of the Kitzmiller School. Hundreds of people gathered in the town for the three days of festivities, according to the Homecoming's organizers, who had produced a number of events and activities to entertain and inform those in attendance.

The weekend began as the Kitzmiller School gymnasium was transformed into an island setting for the town's "Hawaiian Luau." A group of local hula dancers entertained the crowd of over 150 people who filled the gym for the Friday evening event, while members of the Kitzmiller Empowerment Group, co-sponsors of the luau along with the Garrett County Health Department's Outreach Team, served tropical refreshments and snacks. Residents of all ages participated in a variety of activities and contests, including limbo, hula hoop, twist dancing, pineapple eating, and costume contests. A piñata, treasure hunt, and musical chair game were also highlights of the evening.

The events moved outdoors the following day, where sunny skies contributed to the festive atmosphere. A large crowd partook of food, and adults and children alike participated in a variety of games, viewed a K-9 demonstration by deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and enjoyed live music provided by Arnold Smith. Winners in the horseshoe pitching tournament were hometown brothers Loren and John Hawk, with John Thomas and Terry Meyers coming in second.

In a quieter moment, a pair of special presentations

WHAT IF YOU GAVE A PARTY, and the whole town (and then some) showed up? That's just what happened at the 10th annual Kitzmiller Homecoming recently, as several hundred current and former residents enjoyed three days of activities, games, and events. On opening night the Kitzmiller School gym was the scene of a Hawaiian luau, that included the grass skirt dancers shown above, from left, Linda and Lynn Welch, Kim Crouse, Cheryl Bray, and Pam Browning, who undulated to Hawaiian music provided by DJ Jeremy Rhina (not pictured). Several presentations were made the next day, including apical plaques to the family of the late Wilbur Myers and to Dr. Melvin Brown, above right, a former science teacher at the school who oversaw his students as they planned and built the town's original botanical gardens in the late 1940s. Below, deputee Jeff Green, left, and Dave McLaughlin demonstrate the prowess of Green's K-9 partner Hanno. The children present were reportedly awestruck by both the dog and McLaughlin's appearance in a bright red full-body suit, which took the bite out of Hanno's bark.

were made by the Kitzmiller Civic Association. The first was a specially designed plaque presented to the family of Kitzmiller resident Wilbur Myers, who lost his life in a farming accident last month. The plaque dedicated the 10th annual Kitzmiller Homecoming to Myers' memory.

The second presentation was to Dr. Melvin Brown, a former science teacher at the Kitzmiller School and the director of the town's original botanical gardens. Nancy Brady of the Park Revitalization Committee rededicated the park in Dr. Brown's honor, saluting his efforts in working to restore the park to its original beauty.

The civic association also presented plaques to a number of groups and individuals for their continued support over the past 10 years of Kitzmiller Homecoming gatherings.

As the homecoming weekend also marked the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Kitzmiller School in 1923, a large decorated birthday cake was on display. The school's library and hallway were open for former students and other interested persons to view a collection of old yearbooks, photographs, and memorabilia. Later that evening the 18th Kitzmiller School Reunion was held at the building, with over 150 people on hand.

The weekend's events concluded the next afternoon with a social time at the school, where more visiting and reminiscing occurred between old friends.

By all accounts, the Kitzmiller Homecoming was deemed a great success, and a splendid time was reportedly had by all, in large part because of the many volunteers and sponsors who donated time and energy to the affair, including Kitzmiller School, Farmers Market, Garrett 8 Cinemas, and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Frostburg State Announces '98-99 Theatre Season

Frostburg State's University Theatre has recently announced the upcoming productions of the 1998-99 season.

Launching this year's list of plays is Oedipus Rex, a timeless and powerful tragedy by Sophocles, considered one of the most skillful of ancient Greek dramatists. This drama watches the King, and public hero, pledge to rid his people of the curse affecting them. This season's opener is scheduled for October 9, 10, 15, 16, and 17 at 8 p.m. and October 11 at 2 p.m.

Henrik Ibsen's A Doll's House is scheduled to run November 20 and 21 and December 3, 4, and 5 at 8 p.m., with a 2 p.m. matinee on November 22. Ibsen has been recognized as the "father of modern drama" for well over 100 years.

In this human drama, the main character, Nora, walks away from marriage and family with the intent of "finding" herself. Seen as feminist to some, humanist to others, A Doll's House tells its audience that is the primary duty of every person to discover who he or she is.

As the season moves into 1999, the musical Meet Me In St. Louis will be presented. This show, with music and lyrics by Hugh Martin and Ralph Blane, is based on both The Kensington Stories by Sally Benson and the MGM motion picture Meet Me In St. Louis.

Scheduled for March 10, 11, 12, and 13 at 8 p.m. and March 14 at 2 p.m., the story follows the Alton Smith family through several months as they anticipate the most momentous event of the new century, the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904. With such familiar songs as "The Boy Next Door," "The Trolley Song," "Under the Bamboo Tree," "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas," and the title song, "Meet Me In St. Louis," the FSU performance should appeal to theatre goers of all ages.

The season will close with All In The Timing, six one-act comedies by David Ives. In these "wacky and witty" works by Ives, the audience will meet such characters as three chimps locked in a room in order to re-create Hamlet and a conartist who, while attempting to teach a phony language, instead learns about love. These, and other characters, compose the comic revue said to "test the boundaries of the English language and the audience's capacity for astonishment and delight."

These performances are scheduled for April 23, 24, 29, and 30 and May 1 at 8 p.m., and April 25 at 2 p.m.

To make reservations for the FSU performances, persons may telephone 301-687-4145 between 1 and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Tickets for all University Theatre productions may be purchased at the theatre box office before the show.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

FAIRNESS ELECT IT!

Fairness is not an abstract concept. It's not something that springs into being by itself. It's not even something that results from good intentions. It has to be worked at. It takes honesty and courage and a lot of hard learning and skill. Fairness is doing the right thing for the child in a custody case, making the correct decision in a complex civil case and handling criminal cases in a manner that can withstand an appeal that might result in injustice. Fairness is treating everyone as equal before the law regardless of social standing, wealth or political power. Fairness is honesty. It is directly proportional to competence. Fairness is the first casualty of sloppy justice. I pledge fairness from the Garrett County Circuit Court bench.

Cultural Events Series At FSU [s Announced

Frostburg State University has slated a variety of "mainstage" events, as well as several Sunday afternoon concerts for the upcoming 1998-99 Cultural Events Series, including dance, ballet, music, and song.

In celebration of both the centennials of FSU and its sister school in Ireland, Mary Immaculate College, the rhythmic and visual magic of Footworks Percussive Dance Ensemble will kickoff the mainstage cultural events series on Saturday, Sept. 26, at 8:30 p.m. in the FSU Physical Education Main Arena. Admission is free for this event.

Footworks (whose appearances with the London-based Riverdance show were met with great acclaim) promises an evening of fast, furious, and highly skillful traditional percussive dance with roots in Irish and Appalachian history. Internationally recognized Irish dancer J.R. Vancheri, who recently finished a tour as dancer and backup lead male dancer with Riverdance, will be the guest artist.

The Aquilla Theatre of London will present the Comedy of Errors on Tuesday, Oct. 13, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. This play is considered one of Shakespeare's "most vibrant and sparkling comedies." Under the direction of producer Peter Meineck and artistic director Robert Richmond,

COVER STORY

Hunt mad about Bard in PBS' Twelfth Night

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

For Helen Hunt, apparently film and TV glory isn't as good as it gets.

The Oscar- and Emmy-winning actress (As Good as It Gets, Mad About You) has spent the summer on the boards of Lincoln Center, brushing up her Shakespeare as Viola in Nicholas Hytner's production of Twelfth Night, or What You Will. The production has received high marks from the critics, and its final performance airs on PBS on Sunday, Aug. 30, as part of the venerable Live From Lincoln Center series (check local listings).

In addition to Hunt, the cast includes theater veterans Paul Rudd, who previously teamed with Hytner for the movie The Object of My Affection, and Kyra Sedgwick (Miss Rose White).

One of Shakespeare's most beloved comedies, Twelfth Night mingles two bittersweet love stories with spiraling confusion over mistaken identities.

As the play opens, a devastated Viola reaches the shores of the kingdom of Illyria following a shipwreck that apparently has claimed the life of her twin brother, Sebastian.

To survive, Viola disguises herself as a boy, Cesario, and becomes an attendant to a handsome duke, Orsino (Rudd), with whom she falls in love. He, however, is in love with Countess Olivia (Sedgwick), and sends his "boy" to woo her in his stead. In a reverse Twist, Olivia promptly falls in love with "Cesario," thus forming a comic triangle: Viola, masquerading as Cesario, loves Orsino, who loves Olivia, who loves Cesario/Viola.

Matters become even more confused when Viola's twin, Sebastian (Rick Star), returns alive — and is the very image of Cesario.

"The two things that I find extraordinary (about this production) are, first, you can understand what they are saying extremely easily," says John Gubern, who has been the executive producer of Live From Lincoln Center since its inception 25 years ago. "It doesn't have that kind of stilted, otherworldly pronunciation that makes you not sure of what's going on."

Secondly, it's just very, very funny. The comic bits are genuinely funny, so this is very accessible Shakespeare."

In addition to the three celebrity leads, this Twelfth Night features other familiar faces from film and TV playing the characters who handle most of the play's more raucous comedy.

Tony Award winner Philip Bosco, who appeared as the father of the bride in My Best Friend's Wedding, plays Malvolio, and Max Wright, familiar to millions as the TV "daddy" of ALF, plays Sir Andrew Aguecheek. The mischievous Maria is portrayed by Amy Hill, who played the irascible grandmother on All-American Girl.

Small wonder that Live From Lincoln Center opted to present a play for only the second time in the history of the series.

"With this I said, 'Let's just take a chance,'" Gubern says. "It's got a great director, a great designer (Bob Crowley) and a terrific cast — and it's Twelfth Night! We'll make it work."

TV PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels

Q: When Ellen first came on the air, she had a roommate named Adam. How exactly did they write him off the show? —D.S. via e-mail.

A: In one of the show's many retoolings, Adam (Arye Gross) moved to London to accept an exciting job opportunity.

Q: Please settle an argument between my husband and myself on two questions. I recall an episode of The Lucy-Desi Comedy Hour involving the character of actress Tallulah Bankhead. My husband says that Bette Davis played Tallulah; I say it was Tallulah herself.

Next, who played Louie on Dear John? My husband insists it was Jane Leeves of Frasier, but I say no. —Patty Smith (and Brian) via e-mail.

A: You are right on both counts. That was Bankhead herself, playing her way through an episode that, if you recall, involved her fierce allergy to "strawwwwwww-berries," as she called them. Jane Carr, who bears a passing resemblance to Leeves, played Louie on Dear John.

Q: In the Mickey Rooney TV movie Bill: On His Own, did David Duchovny play the rabbi who befriended Bill? —Jonathan Gallagher via e-mail.

A: No. Rabbi Jeff Portman was played by actor Paul Lieber. Q: In the early days of TV, I remember a late-night talk show hosted by Jerry Lester, who used to swap jokes with a large-busted gal. What was the name of the show, and who was the woman? —Walter Swelkhart, Montgomery, Ala.

A: You're thinking of NBC's Broadway Open House, the 1950-51 predecessor to The Tonight Show. For a comedy bit one night, Jerry Lester invited actress Jennie Lewis to appear as Dagmar, a dim, poetry-spouting blond bombshell.

The routine was an instant hit with audiences, and Dagmar (Lewis took the character name as her own) became Lester's sidekick and a beloved TV personality in her own right.

Q: Whatever happened to The Straight Dope on A&E? It was a quirky show that answered questions from viewers about everyday things from embalming to how rate end up in toilet bowls on the fourth floor of apartment buildings. —Todd Urquhart via e-mail.

A: Dope, a spinoff of Cecil Adams' hip syndicated column, simply didn't attract a large enough audience to survive.

Q: Is Robbi Chong of Pobergeist: The Legacy related to Rae Dawn Chong? —Roger A. Hatfield, Del Rio, Texas.

A: They're half sisters. Comic actor Tommy Chong (of Cheech & Chong fame) is the father of both actresses.

SOAP TALK

Watros takes Buchanan's place in the World

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

Cynthia Watros is returning to daytime, but not as the popular Annie on Guiding Light. Watros is taking over temporarily for Jensen Buchanan, who plays Vicky McKinnon on Another World.

"Procter & Gamble (Co.) has been really good to me, and AW casting director Jimmy Bohr is a friend," Watros says. "The show needed someone to step in and help out, and I'm happy to do so."

Buchanan is scheduled to return to work on the NBC soap Tuesday, Sept. 8.

News of Jonathan Jackson's (Lucky) departure from General Hospital is a bit premature.

Several publications reported Jackson was leaving GH immediately. The truth is the young actor wants to go to college this winter and is trying to decide if he wants to go to school and work at the same time.

Jackson says if there is a way he can work both into his schedule, he will. If he does leave, it won't be for several months.

Dear Candace: I really enjoy The Bold and the Beautiful and the character Ridge (Ron Moss).

The other day I saw an advertisement for some '70s music, and I was almost sure that the lead singer for the group Player was Moss. Can you confirm this? —Patty in Oklahoma.

Dear Reader: You are correct. Moss was a rock star in the '70s.

Player recently held a reunion during the B&B Fan Club Weekend. The group played its hit "Baby Come Back."

Cynthia Watros

Dear Candace: What happened to the original Ruth on All My Children? Also, are Doug Davidson (Paul, The Young and the Restless) and Eileen Davidson (ex-Kristen, Days of Our Lives) related? —L.L. on the Internet.

Dear Reader: Mary Fickett (ex-Ruth) decided to retire and left the role voluntarily. Doug and Eileen are not related.

Dear Candace: My mother and I have a disagreement. She says the ex-Connor and the new guy, Pierce, on B&B are played by two different actors. I think the same actor played both roles. So, who is right? —Kelly Caron, Fort Kent, Me.

Dear Reader: Your mother is right. Scott Thompson Baker played Connor, and Paul Satterfield portrays Pierce.

Medicines May Cause Rebound Headaches

Many people are not aware that excess use of certain medicines to relieve headache pain can actually make their headaches worse. This is sometimes referred to as "drug rebound headache." The idea of a drug worsening a condition that it is supposed to treat is not new. Physicians have known for years that narcotic and nonnarcotic pain relievers and prescription migraine headache medicines can cause rebound headache pain.

Physicians who treat drug rebound headaches offer suggestions as to how to prevent this situation. Medicine use should be limited to 2 to 3 times a week at most. The amount of pain reliever used should be low. A non-drug approach (for example, stress reduction, limiting caffeine intake, and getting plenty of rest) may be beneficial.

Local Dentist Welcomes New Staff

The office of Dr. Albert W. Getty welcomes two new staff members this month. Heidi Shaver, pictured left, has accepted the position of full-time hygienist. She graduated from West Virginia University in June of this year with a four-year degree in dental hygiene and is licensed in the state of Maryland. She did an internship in Manassas, Va. Shaver and her husband presently live in Bracceton Mills, W.Va., and are expecting their first child in November.

Cornucopia Day Crafters Sought

The third annual Cornucopia Day '98, sponsored by the Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA), is seeking crafters and artisans to set up throughout the town on Saturday, Sept. 12.

These crafters pay a non-refundable reservation fee of $5, with checks made payable to GGBA and mailed to Trish Morgan, 177 Cassleman Road, Grantsville, MD 21536. Upon receipt of the crafter's interest, Ms. Morgan will make a confirmation call to arrange for table or booth set-up. Crafters must provide their own set-up and be open for business by 9 a.m. that day. Any sales made during the all-day event remain with the individual crafters.

In addition to the craft sales, assorted Grantsville area businesses will offer complimentary refreshments, seasonal decor, one-day-only discounts, and sidewalk sales. Also throughout the town, visitors will find yard sales with many one-of-a-kind selections, Morgan said.

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, adjacent to Penn Alps Restaurant, will feature Children's Afternoon from noon to 3 p.m. Volunteers from Spruce Forest and the GGBA will hold children's games, prizes, contests, storytelling, sing-alongs, refreshments, and the "famous scarecrow-making activity," for which there is a nominal fee.

For more information, persons may call Ms. Morgan at 301-895-3332.

Apple Butter Boil, Roast Set In Parks

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources Public Lands at Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls state parks has scheduled its Apple Butter Boil and Corn Roast Labor Day weekend.

The public is invited to join the park staff Saturday, Sept. 5, at Herrington Manor State Park for an apple butter making demonstration, with samples for sale at the end of the day. On Sunday, Sept. 6, an apple butter making demonstration and corn roast will be held at Swallow Falls State Park. Recording artist Gregg Latta will be playing the hammered dulcimer and other instruments from 11 a.m. to noon and 1 to 2 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $2 per person each day, and corn is available only on Sunday.

For more information, persons may call Herrington Manor State Park at 301-334-9180, or the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

Women's Sorority Group Sets Fund-Raiser Yard Sale

The Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International, the largest organization of women educators in the world, is planning a yard sale for Saturday, Sept. 5, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to support its scholarship program and community projects.

The yard sale will be held at the yellow and brown cinderblock building across from the offices of the Dental Health Group, five miles north of Oakland in the 15000 block of Garrett Highway.

Among the items available for purchase will be special-use clothing for outdoor activities such as hunting, fishing, and skiing, a selection of children's clothing in excellent condition, toys, children's furniture, small appliances, antiques, crafts, homemade baked goods, and many other articles.

Jeanne Whitehair, chairperson of the yard sale committee, and her fellow committee members, Dr. Amy Harman, Pat Foley, Linda Buckel, and Joanne Whetzel, encourage the community to support this fund-raising effort. For further information interested persons may call Whitehair at 304-735-5145.

Glimpse of The Past . . .

WASHINGTON SPRING, near Oakland, is believed to be a spot that General George Washington drank from on one or more of his trips through the area in the latter half of the 18th century. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland restored this site and recently constructed a paved walking path along Rt. 39, just west of the town, which leads to the Washington Spring site. This photo, from the files of the Garrett County Historical Society Museum, is published courtesy of the society and The Republican.

Pair Of GCC Alumni To Lead Board Of Trustees

DOUGLAS L. SITES

ROB W. MICHAEL

A pair of Garrett Community College alumni, Douglas L. Sites and Rob W. Michael, have recently been elected to lead the GCC board of trustees for the coming year. Both men

1991 and has served as vice chairperson since 1993, will now serve as chairperson. He credits retiring chairperson Charles "Bus" Bender with being a model for him to follow. "Bus was a stabilizing influence," he said. "People don't realize what enormous time and energy he has contributed to Garrett Community College."

Following his 1995 graduation from GCC, where he was vice president of the Student Government Association, Sites transferred to Frostburg State University, where he received a bachelor's degree in business administration. He has also completed course work in forest management at the University of Mississippi. Sites is employed by the Gress Equipment Company of Accident and is married to the former Donna Nutter, a GCC alumna, who is a member of the Garrett Community College Foundation board.

Sites, who was first appointed to the board in relationships with Steve Herman, Rob Michael, and other board members. I want to promote open relationships with the entire college community, and I plan to continue meetings with the faculty and staff," Sites said.

Michael, a 1974 graduate of GCC and an honors graduate of Davis and Elkins College with a double major of economics, business management and marketing, will serve as vice chairperson of the board. A nationally recognized State Farm insurance agent, he is a member of the Garrett County Civil Service Commission and the Zoning Board of Appeals for the town of Oakland. He is past member of the board of governors and Finance Committee of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and past vice president of the Greater Oakland Business Association. He also serves as youth league coach for basketball and baseball.

While a student at GCC,

Michael served as president and vice president of the Student Government Association and was selected to Who's Who Among America's Junior College Students. His scoring 63 points in a single basketball game still stands as a college record. He is also the founder and past president of the GCC Alumni Association.

Michael, who has been a member of the board of trustees since 1992, said, "Understanding the needs of the community, our students, and faculty is exceptionally important to me as vice chairman at GCC. As a former student and graduate of the college, I believe that I must give back to those who gave so much to me. I am now in a position where I can make a difference. That's exciting!"

JOHN THOMAS SEALING MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED - Bridget Miller, daughter of Ralph and Glenna Miller, Oakland, is the 1998 recipient of the John Thomas Sealing Memorial Scholarship, presented annually by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sealing. The scholarship is awarded to a 4-H member or former member entering college as a freshman with studies in the field of education or health care. Miss Miller, an 11-year member of the Shepherd's 4-H Club, will be attending Garrett Community College, McHenry, majoring in elementary education. Congress Has Work Left On Nat. Ag Agenda

Renewing its call to stay the course with the farm bill, the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors recently adopted points of action to protect farm and ranch income.

When the farm bill was adopted in 1996, Farm Bureau, along with members of Congress and the administration, noted that it was just one piece of the farm income puzzle. Farm Bureau and some members of Congress said in order to make the plan complete, a number of other initiatives including tax relief, regulatory relief and measures to increase international trade must be adopted.

Farming In Maryland..... Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

In the area of international trade, the board urged Congress to pass fast-track trade negotiating authority to allow the administration to negotiate new trade deals. Swift passage of fast-track is critical given the quickly approaching negotiations to rewrite international agriculture trading rules. House leaders have promised a fast-track vote before Congress adjourns, and the measure has been included in Senate committee-passed legislation. The board also urged full funding of the market access program to help promote American farm goods abroad.

Regulatory reform initiatives currently are alive in both chambers of Congress and the board recommended Congress take action to provide relief from regulations that impose unfair costs and burdens on farmers and ranchers. Proposals to overhaul the regulatory process and review the costs of federal regulations are pending.

Decreasing producers' tax burdens has always been a Farm Bureau priority, and the directors expressed support for numerous congressional initiatives to do just that. The board urged action on measures to reduce the maximum capital gains tax rate from 20 percent to 15 percent and to reduce the federal estate tax by 5 percent each year until the tax is eliminated. A move to enact Farm and Ranch Risk Management accounts also received high praise from the board because of its provisions that would allow farmers and ranchers to deposit pre-tax income into special savings accounts. All three of the measures are included in a Senate package introduced last month, and individual House bills are currently alive.

Agriculture research has been called one of the keys to a continued profitable American agriculture industry. Research has bipartisan support in both houses of Congress and received budgetary increases this year. The agriculture research language is included in the agriculture appropriations package awaiting congressional action in a House-Senate conference. By law, the appropriations measure must be completed by Oct. 1.

Southern States Oakland Co-op Holds Meeting

Troy Gnegy of Oakland and Ray Miller of Oakland were elected to the local board at the Southern States Annual Membership Meeting of the Oakland Co-op held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Aug. 7. More than 170 stockholder-members and their families attended the session.

W. Brooks Hamilton of Oakland was selected chairman of the local board, while Bill Grose of Cranesville, W.Va., was named vice chairman.

Elected to the Southern States Farm Home Advisory Committee were Ellen Shillingburg of Oakland, also chosen chairman of the committee, and Dorothy Bernard of Swanton, also chosen secretary of the committee.

Elected as delegate to a district election meeting to be held in Grantsville this fall was Ray Miller. Troy Gnegy was chosen as alternate.

Blair Bennett of Bridgeport, W.Va., Southern States' district manager, talked about the cooperative's overall operations and showed a slide/tape presentation of president and chief executive officer Wayne A. Boutwell giving a condensed version of the annual report.

The report on local operations and services rendered to farmer-members in the community was given by Rex Hoakcraft, manager of the Oakland Co-op. He reported that total operating volume for the past year was approximately $3.2 million. His report included the use of a number of color slides showing Southern States facilities and services, as well as patrons' farming operations.

The session also included a special recognition ceremony for the newly elected and retiring board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee members. Those retiring include Lee Shillingburg and Randall Steyer from the board, and Kay Steyer from FHA.

Safe driving awards were presented to Joe Bishop, Kevin Louie, and Chuck Fitzwater, employees of the dealer.

During the public session—emceed by News Channel 2 anchor Sandra Pinkney—each contestant will give a one-minute presentation and answer a "fish bowl" question concerning current agricultural issues. Sunday's event will also mark the end of the reign of Sarah Roberts of Bryantown, Charles County's 1997 Maryland Farm Queen.

In addition to making appearances and presenting awards at the Maryland State Fair, the Farm Queen is considered the state's young ambassador for agriculture. During the year, she will appear at various events, including school groups, service clubs and other organizations interested in hearing presentations about Maryland agriculture.

As Garrett County's Farm Queen, Miss Barnard will be performing similar duties in her home county during the year.

Mushroom Sales Reach Record High In U.S.

The value of the 1997-98 mushroom crop in the U.S. totaled $800 million, 4% above the previous record high of $766 million set in 1996-97. Gains in the sales of fresh market Agaricus mushrooms were responsible for the increase. Sales of all mushrooms during the 1997-98 season at 818 million pounds were 4% above last year, and growers received an average 97.9 cents per pound for the 1997-98 crop. The number of growers fell to 336 from last year season's figures of 341.

The value of Agaricus mushrooms for fresh market continued to rise, reaching a record high of $670 million, 11% above the 1996-97 season, while the value of sales of Agaricus mushrooms for processing fell 17%. The value of sales of specialty mushrooms fell 26% to $26.8 million for the 1997-98 season, with the value of Shiitake mushroom sales 19% below the previous year.

Soy-Based Biodiesel Aids Studies Of Environment At Maryland School

by Saady Davis,
Executive Director

Twilight, a 45-foot workboat circa 1911, bumped gently against a dock on the Chester River in Chestertown one hot day this summer.

One of a small fleet of historic and painstakingly restored vessels operated by the Echo Hill Outdoor School at nearby Worton, in Kent County, it carried 11 fifth grade students from schools across the county and a crew of two—Nicholas Biles, Twilight's captain and a teacher at Echo Hill, and Jackie MacNeish, staff naturalist at the school.

The youngsters, many of them pink-cheeked from the sun and damp-of-hair from earlier swims, were completing a day of intense environmental study in "the classroom" provided by the Chester River and the Chesapeake Bay.

On the cabin wall of the workboat hung a chalkboard on which had been listed 26 different "species" which the students had spotted and/or captured (only temporarily) during the course of the day—an osprey, a white perch, grass shrimp, a bald eagle, a blue crab.

Michael Thornton and Jake Voorhees, both 11, proudly, although gingerly, displayed the blue crab which had been brought to port, along with several other bay creatures, in an aquarium. It and all the other specimens were released.

Dea Keen, a student at Galena Middle School, showed off a deer tooth she had found during the search of a remote beach.

But it wasn't until Twilight had docked and the students were making ready to disembark that their environmental education for the day was completed. They learned then that the smallest of popcorn, which several of the fifth graders had noticed in the course of the day's river and bay journey, came from Twilight's exhaust pipes, for Twilight, they learned, was being powered by soy-based biodiesel.

The biodegradable, non-toxic, sulfur-free, non-polluting alternative fuel is known as B20 and is a mixture of 20 percent soybean oil and 80 percent petrodiesel.

And thanks to the Maryland Soybean Board, which awarded Echo Hill Outdoor School a $2,000 checkoff grant, Twilight and two other boats in the school's fleet are now running on the environmentally friendly fuel, and thus adding to the environmental knowledge of more than 4,000 students a year.

The Maryland Soybean Board, which administers the national soybean checkoff program in the state, launched an effort four years ago to promote the use of soy-based biodiesel in boats on the Chesapeake Bay. It is now available commercially at many Chesapeake Bay marinas.

Under the federally sanctioned checkoff program, 50 cents on every $100 worth of soybeans is "checked off" a farmer's receipt at the first point of sale. Farmer-member soybean checkoff boards, at both the state and national levels, use the checkoff "kitty" to fund and support research, educational and market development projects.

Echo Hill Outdoor School was founded in 1972. The campus, near Worton, is located on 350

Each year, the school teaches thousands of students, most of them in middle schools, about the environment, history and themselves through residential education, trips and outreach programs lasting from a half-day to five days.

The outdoors is the classroom, and the school's fleet of historic Bay vessels is the cornerstone of the program. Each boat is outfitted with a variety of laboratory equipment, enabling it to function as a mobile bay studies classroom. All the boats were hand-built and the school keeps them restored and functioning.

Twilight and its companion workboat, Spirit, circa 1944, were used for crabbing, commercial fishing and oystering. The school has equipped them with nets, bottom samplers, water quality analysis kits, plankton nets, charts, fish nets, and numerous other collection devices and educational materials for hands-on learning experiences.

Other boats in the fleet include the 40-foot skipjack Elsworth, built in 1901, and the Annie D., a 50-foot power boat built in 1950 to transport oysters.

Captain Biles, of Twilight, hailed the soy diesel promotional effort of the Maryland Soybean Board as "an exciting way in which to become an active part of the transition to a cleaner fuel."

"It is inspirational to know that our society of dependent fuel users is searching for, and finding, cleaner ways to make our engines run."

Corn, Soybean Development Ahead Of Normal

Field corn should be finished with the silking stage for the coming week as 96% of the corn for the state was reported as silked. Over half of the corn was in the dough stage and almost one-third had reached the dent stage. Corn is developing ahead of last year and the five-year average at all stages of development. Dry spots in parts of the lower eastern shore are still being reported, along with expected lower corn yields.

Soybeans blooming had progressed fairly rapidly for the state as 85% was reported as such. This was a 25 point increase over the previous week's report. Soybeans setting pods followed after the blooming stage and increased by 25 points during the week. Development of soybeans is also ahead of last year and the five-year average.

Vegetable and fruit harvesting continued for the week as cukes, limas, tomatoes, and melons all made healthy progress.

Topsoil moisture was 11% very short, 37% short, 51% adequate, and 1% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 12% very short, 39% short, and 49% adequate. The weather afforded 5.6 days for field work this week.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended Aug. 16, follows, listing the item and percentage for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average.

above the 3.6 average for last year. Alfalfa is expected to be harvested from 54,000 acres. Other hay production for this year is expected to total 375,000 tons, up 14% from last year's 330,000 ton production. Yield, for other hay, is estimated to be 2.5 tons per acre, 0.3 ton above last year's 2.20 tons per acre. Other hay is expected to be harvested from 150,000 acres.

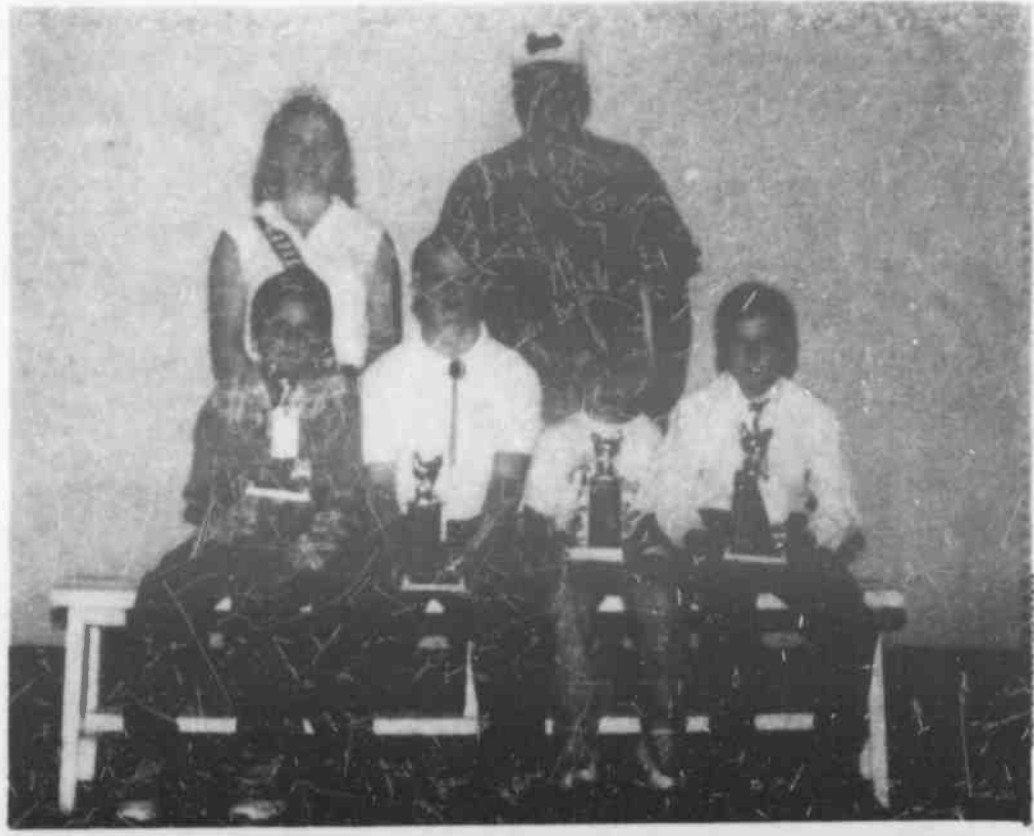

United States corn production is forecast at 9.59 billion bushels, up 2% from last year and up 3% from 1996. Yields are expected to average 130.0 bushels per acre, up 3.0 bushels from a year ago. If realized, this would be the second largest production and the third highest yield on record. Acreage for harvest is estimated at 73.8 million acres, down 495,000 acres from June, but virtually unchanged from 1997.

Soybean production is forecast at a record high 2.82 billion bushels, up 4% from last year's record of 2.73 billion bushels. The yield forecast, at 39.5 bushels per acre, is up 0.5 bushels from 1997.

Monthly Crop Prices For Maryland Down

Crop prices received for the month for Maryland and Delaware farm operators were down for every crop, except for oats which remained at a stand still. The largest price drops were for soybeans and baled hay, with soybeans losing 43 cents per bushel and hay dropping by $3.26 per ton.

JOBS

Wilt's number one priority is good paying jobs for our citizens. Many area coal mines have either closed or reduced the number of employees. Many high school graduates leave the county to find employment. At times, entire families must move to find adequate employment to meet the financial needs of the family.

As everyone knows, American jobs are going to foreign countries, such as Mexico, China, and South Korea, where labor wages are very low. As a result, this has created a real hardship on many families, not only in Garrett County, but nationwide. Garrett County residents felt the effects of this when Bausch and Lomb moved their business into foreign territory to take advantage of cheap labor. Many families suffered because of B&L's decision to leave our beautiful county.

Through a team effort of county and state officials, Simon Pearce, Inc., will be in operation at the former Bausch and Lomb building by fall 1998. The glass blowing plant will be of great benefit to many county families.

Wilt is committed to doing everything possible to bring jobs to our county. He believes everybody needs a good job; this is his goal, and he will work hard to reach it.

Vote for Wayne Wilt.

Crop Production Report Offered By Statistics Service

Maryland corn production is up slightly from 1997. Corn production, based on conditions on August 1, is expected to total 44.1 million bushels, up 18% from last year's 37.4 million bushel production. Remember, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service, last year was not a good year for corn and this year seems to be following in those same footsteps, with the weather pattern being warm and dry for such a long time. An average yield of 105 bushels per acre is expected from 420,000 acres. If the expected yield of 105 bushels is realized, it will be 15 bushels above last year's 90-bushel average.

Soybean production is forecast at 13.34 million bushels, down 9% from last year's 14.7 million bushel production. Soybean yield is expected to average 29 bushels per acre, just 1 bushel ahead of the 28 bushel per acre yield in 1997. Soybeans are expected to be harvested from 460,000 acres, 65,000 acres less than the 525,000 acres harvested last year.

Maryland barley production, based on August 1 conditions, is expected to total 2.98 million bushels, 26 percent below last year's 4 million bushel production. Yield, if realized, is forecast at 62 bushels, 18 bushels below last year's 80 bushel average. Harvested acreage, at 48,000 acres, is 2,000 acres less than the 50,000 acres harvested in 1997.

Alfalfa hay production for 1998 is forecast at 216,000 tons, up 33% from last year's 144,000 ton production. Alfalfa yield is expected to average 4.0 tons per acre for 1998, 0.4 tons

Liquid Manure Application Systems Design

Liquid manure may be defined as any liquid that is contaminated from the animal production system, and the on-farm management of liquid manure presents an important opportunity to curtail agricultural nonpoint source pollution. Liquid Manure Application Systems Design Manual, NRAES-89, is a new publication that provides the agricultural community with current research and industry experience in applying liquid manures to farmland.

Emphasizing basic principles, this abundantly illustrated 168-page manual outlines a design process for planning and implementing an economically efficient, environmentally safe liquid manure application system that is tailored to the producer's needs. The comprehensive guide discusses basic design components—such as a variety of pumps, pipes, hoses, and irrigation nozzles—of commonly used liquid manure application systems. Field application methods covered include tankers, hard-hose reel systems, drag hose/soft hose ground application, and center pivot irrigation.

The design manual also discusses such management issues as environmental assessment, nutrient management, liquid manure storage and handling, application rate strategies, environmental assessment, odor control, and safety. The manual includes 69 illustrations and 20 tables, plus work sheets, suggested readings, and a list of manufacturers. Livestock producers, environmental regulators, waste management sales professionals, irrigators, system designers, public officials, and educators are among those who will benefit from this book.

Authors of the Liquid Manure Application Systems Design Manual are Mark Dougherty, staff engineer, NRAES; Larry D. Geohring, senior extension associate, agricultural and biological engineering, Cornell University; and Peter Wright, animal waste specialist, agricultural and biological engineering, Cornell.

Liquid Manure Application Systems Design Manual, NRAES-89, is available for $20 per copy (plus shipping and handling). The shipping and handling charge is $3.50 for a single copy within the continental United States.

Crop Notes
*It appears that we may escape a repeat of last year's epidemic of late blight on tomatoes. As of now, I have not received any reports of late blight problems. There have been a few cases of early blight, but nothing too serious. I still recommend that you continue your applications of the fungicide. Late blight can only be prevented and strikes quick and hard.

*Corn earworm populations are growing. Those of you raising late sweet corn should be applying an insecticide every 5 days from the time of silk development. Also, we have found the corn earworm in shell beans. If you open a pod and find the beans are missing, a corn earworm just had a wonderful meal. For insecticide recommendations give me a call.

*The fall army worm is making its mark late in the season. I know of one field corn planting that was almost completely destroyed and one sweet corn field severely damaged by the army worm. Evidence of the army worm is long sections of the leaf blade eaten away. In the daytime they will retreat into the whorl of the plant. Not much can be done at this point in the season.

Timothy Grass Mites, A New Bug in Garrett County?
Is your timothy yield going down-hill? Is your timothy plant stunted and turning brown? Well, you may very well have a new "bug" in your crop. Last week a local farmer called me, explaining that he had a real good first cutting; the second cutting was less with some of the plants displaying a brown appearance; and at the third cutting almost all of the plants has brown blades that look diseased. Upon inspection, I found a very tiny insect called a grass mite. It is so small that it is only visible under the microscope. Dr. Lea Vough, forage specialists, told me the mite has been a problem in central Maryland for the past three years. At first, he thought it only preyed on the Climax variety of timothy, but now they are finding it on other varieties. How does this small insect inflict so much damage? The mites suck juices out of the leaves and as they do so, they inject a toxin into the leaves, results in the destruction of the plant cells, leaving a browning appearance. As of now, there are not any miticides registered for timothy. If you have timothy like I described, I would appreciate hearing from you.

Scouts In Action

Troop 5569 Friendsville Girl Scout Troop 5569 spent a week-end recently at Camp Roy Weller in Bruceton Mills, W.Va. The theme for the event was an Indian Pow Wow and 16 scouts participated.

Having arrived early at the camp, the girls selected bunks and began craft activities. They made placemats to use for meals during the trip and with the assistance of Gail Dumire they made "dream catchers." Creative activities presented opportunities to make "God's eyes" and bead necklaces, and to tie-dye T-shirts and socks. Franni King was on hand to help the scouts build birdhouses.

The girls had an Indian Feather Hunt, which was won by the following: Christi Benedict, Christa Uphold, and Breann Sines, first place; Raina Sines, Brittney Dumire, and Angie Umbel, second place; and Laura Benedict, Camie Fike, and Maranda Funk, third place.

Everyone ate ice cream and cake to celebrate Breann Sines' ninth birthday, and in the evening the Organization for Native American Interests from West Virginia University visited the scouts. Dressed in Native American attire, group members Bill Sembello, B.J. Lyons, Angelique Raptakis, Nancy Brotherton, Mary Marra, Herb Cleveager, and Jarrod Cleveager, told stories, danced, and sang.

The second day of the trip was filled as a day of fun for the scouts, who had squirt gun battles, tossed water balloons, had their faces painted by Laura Uphold, and made drums. Christi Benedict's drum was selected as "best decorated."

Christy Thomas demonstrated archery for the girls, and each one had the chance to try her skill with the bow. Christa Uphold and Chelsie Bittinger were recognized as being the best shots.

Adults who assisted in the camping trip were Tammy Sines and Belinda Benedict, leaders, and Debbie DeWitt, Karen Benedict, Tammy Uphold, Janie Fike, Virginia Fike, Gail Dumire, and Esther Benedict, who provided first aid.

The following awards were presented: Laura Benedict and Brittney Dumire, most helpful; Breann Sines, most considerate; Christa Uphold, most vocal; Ashley Ross, most congenial; Katie Fike and Cassie Fike, quietest campers; Angie Umbel and Maranda Funk, most cooperative; Christi Benedict, silliest camper; Kayla Sines and Randi Dumire, strangest attitudes; Chelsie Bittinger, most forgetful; Raina Sines, most in-charge; and Christa Uphold and Chelsie Bittinger, best sports.

Training Class For Babysitters Available At GCC

A course in professional babysitting has been made available through the Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College. A group of 17 participants recently completed the 12-hour course designed to teach professional skills for handling and dealing with children.

The students were also taught the art of entertaining through crafts and games, and the use of positive discipline and hands-on activities by Ardra Sharpless.

Safety issues were covered as well, with emergency medical training conducted by David Moon at the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad hall. Youth Glades Elementary School student Ryan Sellers served as the training victim for the fourth year. The students also had the option to attend a CPR class at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Each student was awarded a citation of completion at the conclusion of the course.

The next professional babysitter's class is scheduled

DeBerry Named County Realtor Of The Year

Larry DeBerry, an agent with Railey Realty, has been selected as the 1998 Garrett County Realtor of the Year by the Garrett County Board of Realtors. In naming DeBerry, the Board of Realtors cited his years of service to the county and the real estate community.

DeBerry currently serves as president of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, and in recent years has served on various Board of Realtors committees concerned with professional standards, finance, and strategic planning. In 1997, he chaired the Board of Realtors committee that led the county-wide implementation of a new multiple listing system. On the state level, DeBerry has served on the President's Council of the Maryland Association of Realtors and the association's President's Advisory Council.

DeBerry joined the staff of Railey Realty in 1993 and has been a million-dollar producer for the agency for four years. Prior to joining Railey Realty, he was a million-dollar producer for nine years with a company in Massachusetts, giving him a total of 16 years in the real estate business.

An alumnus of West Virginia University with a degree in management, DeBerry is also a graduate of the Officer Candidate School of the Corps of Engineers. He has continued his professional education by completing courses in counseling buyers and sellers, professional standards and ethics, and fair housing, plus has completed three levels of GRI education, continuing professional education in the real estate industry.

A native of Garrett County, DeBerry resides in Oakland. He is vice president of the Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club and is a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The Crime Solvers of Garrett County organization is currently seeking information about the armed robbery that took place in July at A&D Dairy Delight, located at Rt. 219 and Glendale Road.

On July 12 at about 10:50 p.m., an unknown white male entered the establishment brandishing a semi-automatic pistol. He forced the owners into the bathroom and locked the door, according to the report. He then took an undisclosed amount of cash and fled on foot.

The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 6 feet, 1 inch tall, and weighing about 200 pounds. He was wearing dark clothing and his face was hidden by a bandanna. Anyone with information about this crime is urged to contact the Maryland State Police Barrack in McHenry.

Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crimes may also contact Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor do they have to appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Financial Figures Favorable, Says Westvaco CEO

Westvaco Corporation has reported fiscal 1998 third quarter and nine month sales and earnings. "Despite extraordinary global business challenges, a much of our company performed favorably compared to the third quarter of 1997," said John A. Luke Jr., Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. "The company benefitted from good cost management and sound U.S. demand for our products as well as our ability to maintain export sales, despite stiff challenges resulting from turmoil in international markets and adverse currency valuations."

Sales for the third quarter ending July 31, 1998, were $728 million, a 1.4 percent decrease compared to the third quarter of fiscal 1997. Sales for the first nine months of 1998 were $2.2 billion, a 2 percent decline compared to the year earlier period.

Third quarter 1998

earnings were $31.7 million, or 31 cents per share (basic and diluted), a 15.6 percent decrease from 1997 third quarter earnings of $37.5 million, or 37 cents per share (basic and diluted). Earnings for the first nine months of fiscal 1998 totaled $98.8 million, or 97 cents per share (basic and diluted), an 11 percent decline from the $111 million, or $1.09 per share (basic) and $1.08 per share (diluted), earned during the first nine months of 1997.

Luke commented that the company's Envelope Division continued to recover from a strike during the second quarter and that the company's Brazilian packaging businesses were still experiencing difficult market conditions in that country. Earnings in the third quarter of 1998 and 1997 were reduced by five cents per share for rebuilds of major coated paper machines at the company's mill in Luke. In each quarter, a machine was rebuilt to improve existing products and to add new differentiated products.

Luke said Westvaco has addressed Asian market volatility by securing new business in that region and in other international markets. "We remain cautious about Asian markets because of continuing uncertain political and economic circumstances in the region, particularly in Japan," said Luke.

"The pressures facing us affect the entire U.S. paper industry," said Luke. "Commodity producers have been most severely affected. Our strategy of product and service differentiation strengthens our performance in the face of current very demanding conditions and offers the promise of far better results in the longer term."

A major producer of paper, envelopes, packaging and specialty chemicals, Westvaco owns 1.5 million acres of timberlands in the United States and Brazil and has manufacturing facilities in those two countries as well as the Czech Republic. International business accounts for about 25 percent of Westvaco's sales and the company has customers in more than 70 countries.

were Sunday visitors of the Bass children. Emma Bass spent Sunday night with Colleen.

Ruth DiPaolo was a guest of her friend, Shirley Johnson, at the Hen House on Sunday in an advance celebration of her birthday this week.

Family members celebrated the birthday of June Green, Cumberland, with a luncheon at Penn Alps. Family members attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Green, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Orendorf, Mr. and Mrs. David Buckel, Beulah Moon, Ferne Beachy, Blair Buckel, Sheila Southerly and sons Landon and Tyler, and Rita Burton.

Bob and Kitty King, Las Vegas, spent a good chunk of the summer with their daughter, Lesa Whittemore, and children Greg and Madeline. About 30 of their local relatives gathered at Lesa's home on Sunday for a reunion. Their visit here enabled Lesa to pop up to Boston to meet up with her sister-in-law and her nieces.

While in Boston they attended a Boston Red Sox ball game. Lesa said the ballpark was beautiful and is a classic ballpark by all standards.

A birthday bash is planned for "Gram's" (Ruth DiPaolo's) birthday Thursday. That is, if she can manage to take a break from the campaign trail. We will also celebrate Claire Sussman's and Emma Bass's birthdays since these cousins missed their "real" birthdays because of various trips to the beach. The Bass family just returned as "The Beach Renovation Construction Project" was just beginning in Myrtle Beach. The project means lots of big dozers and digging machines — a construction site right outside your hotel on the beach. A few years ago we were hit with almost a whole week of construction at Ocean City. They ruined the view of the ocean and the sound of the waves. It was 24 hours of the roar of dozers every day. I guess it is necessary work, as the hurricanes that hit take much of the sand back out to sea.

Pat McLister spent part of the weekend with his family who were visiting in Bittinger, and he left on Sunday for some ocean fishing at Ocean City with some of his work friends. After about a seven-hour trip from the mountains to the shore, he found that the ocean fishing trip was canceled because of the concern of Hurricane Bonnie. Ten foot waves were predicted, so guess it is better safe than sorry. Tough luck, Pat, but it is good you took the big gang of kids for a boat ride on the lake before departing.

Traveling with the Glatfelys to see the Steelers play in Morgantown on Saturday night were Bill, Landon, and Tyler Southerly. Others viewing the game were Aaron and Sam Stanton, and Brent Housley and Brian Weimer.

Rita and Ernest Ross, Tavares, Fla., were recent visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh. Joe was a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital for two days last week, but now is home and recuperating.

Bill, Sheila, Landon, and Tyler Southerly visited Ann and Pat McLister in Frederick for two days last week.

Michelle Geis returned to Virginia Tech to begin her sophomore year. She was driven to Blacksburg by her parents, Ellen and Sam Housley, over the weekend.

Christopher and Matthew Neitzke, Mechanicsville, spent two weeks with their country cousin, Brent Housley.

HONESTY AND INTEGRITY

Honesty and integrity are essentials on the bench. One who is elected to sit in judgment of others should do so from a position of complete personal integrity and must have earned the respect of both the Bar and the public. I am proud of my life, my career, my wife and my children.

I have made no promises or commitments to anyone during this campaign and will make none. Those who have supported me in this grass-roots effort have done so from community commitment only. They know there is nothing to gain but a better justice system.

Corruption is something I have always hated and fought against, whether in government or in private life. Honesty is more than not getting in trouble. It is standing up for what you believe; having the courage to speak out on important issues forthrightly and being willing to take action when you know something is wrong.

I have tried to conduct my law practice honorably. I have turned down dozens of criminal cases during my career. I have always refused to fight a custody case unless I was convinced it was the right thing for the child. It has been my practice to settle cases where a fair settlement was possible, advising my clients to save themselves the pain and expense of a trial, when possible, by throwing in the projected attorney's fees (except where matter of principle dictated otherwise). I have always done my best in representing my clients when there was no other choice but litigation.

I pledge honesty and integrity from the Circuit Court Bench.

The Measure of Man

Not "How did he die?" But

"How did he live?"

Not "What did he gain?" But "What did he give?"

Not "What was his station?"

But "Had he a heart?"

And "How did he play his God-given part?"

Not "What was his shrine?"

Nor "What was his creed?"

But "Had he befriended those really in need?"

Not "What did the piece in the newspaper say?"

But "How many were sorry when he passed away?"

Was he ever ready with a word or good cheer,

To bring back a smile,

To banish a tear?

These are the units to measure the worth

Of a man as a man,

A DAY-IN, DAY-OUT DIET FOR HEALTH by Matt Duran, M.D.

Who has never tried to diet at some point in their lives? Whether it's five pounds or 50, most of us have wanted to lose a few, or are currently trying to trim down. Unfortunately, popular media bombards us with diet plans filled with unrealistic promises, massive life changes, or plain old gimmicks that don't work. When we don't meet our goals (or more often, their goals) we get even more down on ourselves.

The most common problem in the American method of losing weight is that we view the changes in our diets as temporary. We "diet" until we drop a pre-set number of pounds or get to a new clothes size, then go back to our old habits and lose all our progress. Then, on top of the yo-yoing, many of these diets are not based on faulty premises, so you don't treat your body right in the first place.

Here are a few facts, things to consider, and strategies to help you find a diet well-suited for you:

- Our mindset should be long-term. To really benefit from an improved diet ("diet" from here on out means the way you eat everyday, not some two-week fad), we need to make permanent changes to the way we eat and replace the flawed eating habits with healthy ones. Healthful eating is a way of life, not what you do for those two weeks before a trip to the beach.

- Expect to see changes only slowly. You gained those pounds slowly, and so you should lose them slowly. If you want changes that last, then you can't expect them to come overnight. The good news? With healthy habits, you're much more likely to stay feeling and looking healthy.

- Find goals that you can achieve. Some people won't lose weight as quickly as others, so set a realistic and personal goal to shoot for (and once you've set that goal, stick to it!). A safe and conservative rate is to lose about 1 to 2 pounds per week, if you're fairly overweight.

- Make your goals known to those who care about you. You accomplish three things here. First, if your friends know you're trying to modify what you eat, they can be moral support. Second, you're more likely to stick with the habits of those in your house (you might need to change their habits, too). Third, if you do succeed in changing the eating habits of the entire house, you'll be helping others' health as well as yours.

- Set your goals for health or the way you feel rather than for pounds or inches. When you start to exercise regularly you'll burn fat and begin to build muscle. Muscle burns calories better than fat does, but weighs more than fat, so don't go by the scale; if you feel like you're losing fat but weigh the same, you've probably replaced that fat with new, dense muscle (a super alternative). You'll feel better and have more energy; you never need to second guess that.

- Realize the impact of when you eat on your metabolism. Calories from foods eaten early in the morning have all day for your body to burn them off. On the other hand, calories eaten late in the day that don't get burned off by the time you go to sleep, your body puts into storage, namely fat. Ideally, try putting your carbohydrate-rich foods (pasta, rice, bread, potatoes) and fats earlier in the day, while moving protein sources (lean beef, chicken, fish) to dinner. Also, avoid that late evening snack—you know where it's likely to be stored!

- Try to change your actual habits at the table. Start off drinking a whole glass of water before a meal and then finish a whole second one during the meal; not only does this make you feel more full, but we never get as much water as our body needs. Also, try chewing more slowly, taking more chews, and putting less on your plate to start with (avoid the "finish what's on your plate" mentality). Wait a few minutes before starting dessert; it takes your body a few minutes to tell you that you're full, so you'll find you might not need that dessert after all.

- Do the obvious things that we all hear about. Eat more fruits and vegetables; these are relatively low-calorie, low-fat foods that are high in fiber and vitamins (bonus!). Watch your fat intake, especially saturated fats like lard and red meat, and cut back on the deep fried foods (fat heaven). Finally, realize that "low fat" often means "high calorie" (simple sugars), and remember that your body just turns excess calories into fat for storage anyhow. Eating right can be fun and make you feel great, but often takes relearning some habits. Old dogs certainly can learn new tricks, and they're new tricks that will make you look and feel better. Congratulate yourself on making the first steps to better health, and welcome to "The Good Life."
